

Operation With Reds Seen As Surrender

ROCHESTER, (NC) — Political cooperation with Communism is being seen by many as a surrender to the forces of evil. This is the conclusion that has been reached at the first of two sessions of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, which opened here today.

The conference, which is being held at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, is the largest gathering of Catholic leaders in the United States since the war. It is being held at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, which is being held at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

NAMED FOR ABB. STEPINAC

A Catholic high school for boys at White Plains, N. ## Catholic School Editors Hear Racism Denounced

ALBANY, (IRNY) — More than 1,000 Catholic youths attending the third national conference of the Catholic School Editors Association here were warned to be on the alert for signs of white racism in their schools and to avoid the belief that all enemies of Communism are friends of the Church.

High school and college editors, journalists, students and their advisors attended the sessions, held at Marquette University and high school.

Father Claude H. Heilhaus, Marquette University professor, told the conference that "race discrimination is wrong."

Dr. A. J. S. Sullivan, of the University of Notre Dame, said that "in this matter, there is no room for compromise. We must stand for the rights of all people, regardless of race or color."

Father Heilhaus said that "many Catholics had been infected with white racism by parents, teachers and friends who get the infection from non-Catholic neighbors."

"It is high time," he continued, "for us to realize what has happened to us in our efforts to be 100 per cent Americans. Our motive was good, but we have been misled by some things that are neither Christian nor American. And the worst of them all is white racism."

JAMES G. SUPPLE, religious editor of The Chicago Sun, told the conference that not all enemies of Communism were friends of the Catholic Church.

Tito's 'Freedom' Boasts Belied by Visa Refusals

The true nature of the "complete freedom" experienced by seven American Protestant ministers in touring Yugoslavia as guests of the Communist Belgrade regime, and the worth of public assertions by the Yugoslav Ambassador in Washington that his country desires visits by foreigners and particularly foreign correspondents, can be judged by the experience of N.C.W.C. News Service in year-long efforts to obtain Yugoslav entry visas for three of its fully accredited correspondents.

The release of the ministers' report on "freedom in Yugoslavia" in which they assert that they could go where they pleased and talk to whom they pleased, coincided with the end of an other three-month effort, made on the strength of personal assurances given by Sava Kamanovich, Yugoslav Ambassador to Washington, to obtain permission for a correspondent of this news service to visit Yugoslavia.

The ambassador's flat promise, made in the presence of a score of newspapermen, has not been honored after more than three months.

IT IS ALSO a striking coincidence that the ministers' praise of freedom in Yugoslavia came barely a week after the Belgrade correspondent of The New York Times was summarily expelled by the Tito regime because his dispatches did not meet with its approval.

In 1946, at the time of the "trial" of Archbishop Stepinac, N.C.W.C. News Service instructed Max Jordan, internationally known foreign correspondent, to proceed to Yugoslavia and "cover" the trial. Mr. Jordan was unable to get a visa, despite repeated efforts.

Later, Miss Katherine McKiever, for many years a staff member of N.C.W.C. News Service and a well-known Washington journalist, in Europe at the time, was instructed to go to Yugoslavia and report on conditions there. Miss McKiever, too, was unable to obtain a visa.

ON JULY 21 of this year, Mr. Brunst attended a press conference called by Ambassador Kamanovich at the Yugoslav Embassy in Washington. In the presence of a score of Washington newspapermen, Mr. Brunst related his experiences in obtaining visas to enter Yugoslavia. He said he did not get a visa.

He did not get it.

SERUM TO FIGHT CHOLERA

Following an urgent appeal from Archbishop Arthur Hughes, Papal Intermuncio to Egypt, for anti-cholera serum to help check the epidemic raging in Cairo, War Relief Services National Catholic Welfare Conference has rushed by plane a first shipment of 1,000 vials of the vaccine which will provide for 20,000 inoculations. ## RADIO STARS IN FOOD PLEA

NEW YORK, (NC) — Top stars of the radio and movies are voluntarily lending their support to the Thanksgiving Food Collection appeal to be conducted in 16,000 parishes in the United States during the week of November 23-30. It was disclosed in a statement issued here by Magr. Edward E. Swanson, executive director of War Relief Services National Catholic Welfare Conference.

The actors and actresses who are making transcribed spot announcements on behalf of the campaign include: Bob Hope, Bing Crosby, Judy Canova, Dennis Day, Kay Kyser, Jack Benny, Fibber McGee, Lionel Barrymore, Eddie Cantor, Pat O'Brien, Ralph Edwards, Harlow Wilcox, Knox Manning, Agnes Moorehead, Thomas A. Bradlee, Harry van Zell, Ed Gardner of Duffy's Tavern and Arthur Lake and Penny Singleton of the "Blonde and Dagwood" program.

On the basis of reports received here from campaign directors named in 115 dioceses, Monsignor Swanson stated, "There is every reason to believe that the American people are so keenly aware of the necessity for helping the victims of war through the bitter winter ahead that the goal of 25,000,000 cans of foodstuffs set for the drive will be the minimum amount received."

Hungary Paper Banned

Budapest, (NC) — Publication of New Man, Catholic weekly here, has been suspended for one month by the Press Department of the Prime Ministry, according to an announcement in the Communist organ, Free People. The ban was imposed on New Man for publishing a letter addressed to the Prime Minister by His Eminence Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, Primate of Hungary.

FRENCH NUN BEATIFIED

ROME, (NC) — Sister Jeanne Delanoue, foundress of the Sisters of St. Anne of Providence, was raised to the ranks of the blessed in solemn ceremonies here in St. Peter's Basilica.

The honor of beatification came to Jeanne Delanoue 211 years after her death and just 18 years after Pope Pius XI pronounced her life one of heroic virtue.

The newly beatified was born at Samur, France, in the diocese of Angers, on June 18, 1683, the 12th child of a poor shopkeeper.

At the age of 27 she was moved by a miraculous vision to interest herself in the care of the poor.

She died on June 18, 1704, at the age of 21.

Her body was buried in the church of St. Anne in Samur.

Her feast day is celebrated on June 18.
