Pastor Blesses New Chimes At St. Alphonsus

Auburn — At a Solemn High Mass Tuesday, Armistice Day, Rev. Frederick G. Straub, pastor of St. Alphonsus Church, declared and blessed a new set of Cardillonic Chimes in honor of the veterans of World Wars I and II.

The bronze plaque, commemorating the event, is hung in the vestibule of the church and reads as follows, "These Carillonic Bells in this Church are dedicated to the Glory of God and in Honor of the men and women from St. Alphonsus parish who served their country in World Wars I and II, and in honor of those who sacrificed their lives."

Comprising twenty-five bells altogether, the chimes are operated partly electrically and partly manually. The sound is amplified electronically. They are considered as they may be played from the church organ.

The chimes replaced the huge bell which has served the parish for seventy-five years. The bell recently developed a crack and had to be taken down.

Laity in Tribute To Bp. Kearney

produce the magnanimous man, was the message brought by Francis A. Crotty of Boston, president of the National Catholic Laymen's Retreat Conference in a scholarly address.

"Only those who derive their power from the great Powerhouse of God can truly call themselves great, magnanimous," the speaker said.

"WHEN YOUR zealous Bishop opened the Retreat House, he wanted specialists in the Army of Christ," Mr. Crotty said. The closed retreat produces such specialists, the national leader declared.

Development of the lay retreat movement was reviewed by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. William A. Cowen of Auburn, formerly of St. Bernard's Seminary and a spiritual director of the league while at the seminary and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Charles F. Shay, spiritual director prior to the change from one retreat a year at St. Bernard's to the week-end retreats at Seneca Lake.

Monsignor Cowen emphasized the value to the pioneers of the retreats as made by them. Monsignor Shay told the Bishop that the gathering was not only a personal tribute to him but an approbation of the retreat movement due to the Bishop's approbation.

Early minutes of the retreat league were read by B. Edward Shlesinger, past president and toastmaster to contrast conditions in the pioneer days with the present. President Wolfe reviewed the progress of the retreat league and told of the great contribution made by Bishop Kearney to that progress.

THE COMMITTEE on arrangements consisted of Father Aylward, honorary chairman; Frank E. Wolfe, general chairman; Elmer J. Bloomer, George D. Bryant, Frank R. Davis, John W. Degus, Raymond J. Hasenauer, Theodore J. Houck, Emmett V. Norton, Clarence R. Pichler, George P. Schmidt, B. Edward Schlesinger and James V. Taylor.

Besides Father Aylward, director and President Wolfe, officers of the Retreat League are: Assistant Directors, Rev. Edmund J. Bowen, C.SS.R.; Rev. Thomas J. Sanderson, C.SS.R., Rev. Thomas W. R. Tobin, C.SS.R.; Vice presidents, Joseph F. Aman, Frank Attardi, Elmer J. Bloomer, Frank R. Davis, Angelo L. DiNieri, William J. Hauser, James V. Taylor, John Gleason, Geneva; Leo B. Harvey, Lima, Robert H. Kalb, Newark, Frank J. Lesch, Auburn; John J. Mellinger, Hornell, F. F. Shortsleeve; Elmira and W. A. Sprague, Ithaca; Treasurer, B. Edward Shlesinger and Secretary, George P. Schmidt.

Delegations from various points in the diocese attended the dinner. Mayor Edward Boyle of Auburn headed a delegation of 35 from that city.

Profession of novices who have completed a full year in the order will take place at the next meeting of the Third Order of St. Francis at 3:30 on Sunday, Nov. 23. Meeting is scheduled for St Patrick's Church on Plymouth Avenue. Those to be professed should bring their cards bearing name, address, parish, and name to be taken in religion. After the meeting a very fine film on the life of St. Francis will be shown in the church hall under the auspices of the Girls' Sodality.

While urging parents to join the Third Order, speakers at the recent congress in Cincinnati stressed the following points:

Religion must be deeply embedded in the home, a Catholic atmosphere must be created there, together with habits of moderation and respect for authority, the simpler forms of domestic recreation supplanting commercialized amusement.

Plans of art of beauty, health and racial economy, as advanced by purveyors of pruriency and certain biological racketeers, were set down as specious attacks on Christian standards of decency, debasing literature, stage and screen, the fashions, and above all marital life, for the sake of filthy lust and self-gratification.

The Tertiary was called upon to rededicate himself to those points of the rule which call for abstention from questionable shows and pastimes, for the supervision of literature in the home, for decency in dress. It was recommended that patronage be extended only to purveyors and dealers that do not offend with questionable wares.

The convention recommended, as means to rechristianize the home, family prayer the Ritual blessing of homes, enthroning the Sacred Heart, and cultivation in the home of the Catholic press and the habit of reading good literature.
