

Fr. Malone Testifies Taft-Hartley Law 'Bungled'

(Continued from Page 7) that one result of American business this year will exceed 10 billion dollars, about twice as high as the best war time level.

"We can only conclude that if big labor has been blocking little management around, it has been doing a singularly ineffective job... With some additional concessions here and there, the big laborites appear still to be on the side of management. To the extent, then, that the Taft-Hartley Act weakens the bargaining power of organized labor, it facilitates greater wage [in]fation," stated the Justice priest.

He also scored the new labor-management law as a measure which violates the rights of workers to organize. "It outlaws the closed shop and weakens the union shop."

The Taft-Hartley Act, through its prohibition of the closed shop and its restrictions on the union shop, "weakens and destroys the right of individual workers to organize," the priest charged.

"By placing the responsibility on the individual worker, it creates inefficiency."

He pointed out that in certain circumstances individual workers are morally obligated to join unions in order to protect the interests of their fellow workers. "But the spirit of the Taft-Hartley Law is: I am not my brother's keeper."

Justice Malone deplored the Taft-Hartley Act for interfering in community government intervention in the field of management-labor relations. He cited some of the legal provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act as violations of the moral principle which says that the State should not interfere with individuals and groups in the exercise of their natural rights unless the general welfare demands such intervention.

"The chief actors in the drama of industrial relations," he predicted, "will not be labor and capital or management, but the National Labor Relations Board and a host of lawyers."

Father Malone concluded his address with the hope that a more enlightened Congress will enact legislation to bring management and labor organizations closer together.

Our Lady's Mobility held a "Showcase Show" in the Assembly hall on Thursday night, Jan. 18, with models furnished by novices, who really made a hit with the audience. Raising legs among the girls were: "Dinner Bell" Dances; "Miracles of the Body"; and "The Story of the Rosary."

Thomas Apgar was chairman of the show with the following committee: Mrs. E. P. Murphy; Mrs. Helen Miller; Mrs. Gertrude Theresa Davis; Mrs. Betty McNeil; Antoinette Reed; refreshments: Robert McGill and Constance Lederer.

The dance was enjoyed by all, including the clergymen: Mrs. William McGill and John Kirby.

The Literary Board for the 1948 Scholastic held a meeting last Friday night after school. Previous to that the editor-in-chief and co-editors got together to discuss writing the class history. Besides the work involved everyone enjoyed themselves recalling the good times of the past.

The Sophomores have crowned themselves with glory by winning the stamp drive sponsored by the Michaels with a grand total of 72,000 stamps. Their efforts will most certainly be appreciated by the Michaels and they are to be congratulated by the other classes.

We know the Sophos will be just as anxious to be on the top in the Year Book drive which comes in a few weeks.
