

'Modern Questions' Set for Lent Study

Lenten study clubs in 45 parishes of the diocese will begin reading and discussion next week on a new pamphlet entitled "Modern Questions."

Nun's Rites Held At Sacred Heart

Funeral of Mother Elizabeth Young of the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, who died Monday, Feb. 9, 1948 in St. Mary's Hospital, was held this morning (Thursday, Feb. 12), in the convent chapel, 5 Prince Street.

Born in 1884 in Utica, Mother Elizabeth made her religious profession in Villa Lante, Rome, Italy, in 1916. At various times she was a teacher at Elmhurst, Providence, R. I., and Manhattanville; mistress of studies at Sacred Heart Academy in Detroit, Mich., mistress general and mistress of studies at Overbrook Philadelphia. In 1937, she was appointed mistress of studies for the Eastern Vicariate composed of the entire North East. She had been mistress of studies at the Prince Street Academy for a year.

Author of one textbook on psychology, her specialty, Mother Elizabeth was working on another volume on advanced psychology.

She is survived by a brother, Dr. W. Arthur Young of Westport, Wis.

Burial was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

Workers List Talk By Monsignor Byrne

The Rt. Rev. Monsignor Byrne of St. Bernard's Seminary faculty will discuss "Christ's Faith and Temptations" at the regular meeting of the Catholic Worker Group at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday, Feb. 17, in St. Joseph's House of Hospitality, 602 South Ave.

"Modern Questions," written by the Rev. Rudolph G. Reardon, offers a practical and timely treatment of problems that the Catholic lay people meet every day in their work and recreation and social life.

The seven chapters arranged for weekly discussion during Lent cover: Spiritism, Possession, the Future, Drinking, Sex, Literature, the Movies, Dances, Gambling.

The formation of study clubs is an annual Lenten activity in which laypeople obtain or rebuild a knowledge of Catholic doctrine and seek justice in communicating it to others by word and example.

Experience has taught that groups are more successful if composed of neighbors and friends in small units within the parish. One requirement is demanded: willingness to give up part of one evening each week in Lent for group discussion.

Rev. Albert J. Schachky, diocesan director of the Confraternity which sponsors the study-club movement each Lent pointed out in a letter to the priests of the diocese that the common moral evils of the day require the laity to have a firm grasp of Catholic principles of conduct.

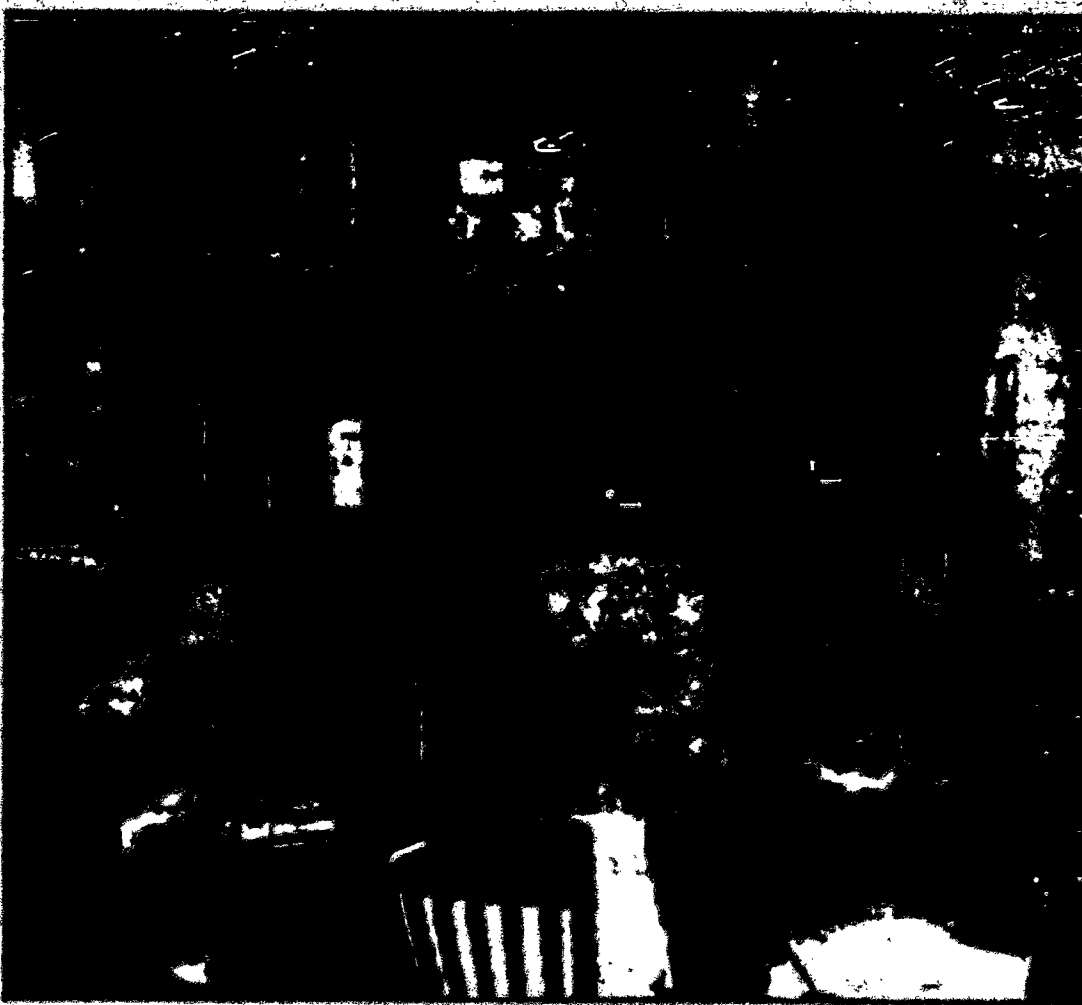

"They need quick, ready answers in their own mind and they should be able to satisfy the questions of the curious and the sincere seekers of truth," Father Schachky said.

"Last year nearly 1500 people were enrolled in 120 study clubs over the whole diocese. With people working fewer hours this year and transportation less of a problem, we hope that study clubs in each parish will meet regularly for the study and discussion of this useful book."

Men's Club To Meet

Monthly meeting of St. Patrick's Men's Club will be held Monday evening, Feb. 16, at 8:30 in the church hall, John J. Callahan will preside.

Displays Spur Children's Reading

A book exhibit at Blessed Sacrament School shows children of various grades attracted by displays browsing among the 1,600 volumes of repeated appeal to children. The exhibit is in charge of the Sisters of St. Joseph.

Deal Called Off For YMCA Branch Sale to Parish

Proposed sale of Monroe Avenue Branch, YMCA, to Blessed Sacrament Church Corporation has been called off by the YMCA officials who originally suggested the sale.

Headed "The Transactions With Not Take Place," an article in The Parish Weekly, Blessed Sacrament parish publication, expresses disappointment following break off of negotiations.

Through a third party, the article states, officials of the Central YMCA, "approached us to know if our parish might entertain seriously the thought of purchasing the Monroe Avenue Branch of the YMCA."

"They conducted us through this neighborhood building, and stated that they would be willing to have this Church Corporation take over the property. Certain formal preliminaries, however, would be necessary, they stated, before the final transaction could take place.

"Because of the great cost of the erection of a new parish recreational building at present, Bishop Kearney strongly advised us to forego this idea in favor of the Blessed Sacrament Church, acquire this property. He believes that every opportunity should be afforded to our youth, and to other members of the parish the advantages that the YMCA facilities would offer.

"However, the directors during the past few days have decided not to enter into negotiations with this parish for the sale of this neighborhood YMCA building. A letter to this effect making known their final decision, was received by us within the past few days. We have always found, however, that disappointments in carrying on God's work, later on were real blessings. Perhaps it is so in this particular instance."

Meet at St. Theodore's
Regular monthly meeting of St. Theodore's Ladies Auxiliary, 200 Knights of St. John will be held Wednesday evening, Feb. 18 at 8 p. m. in the parish hall. No lunch will be served during Lent. Mrs. Ruth Hauck will be in charge. Publicity is being handled by Mrs. Irene Rober.

School Library Offers 1,600 Books With Child Appeal

By MARY CANN

"Have you a book about pirates, Ruler?"
"How can I find out who said, 'The King of England' won't need his glasses to see that signature," as he signed the Declaration of Independence?"

If you spent just half an hour at Blessed Sacrament School Library, you would be apt to hear these and similar questions.

The library which is located on the east side of the school is bright, colorful, and cheerful. Believe it or not most of the 1,600 volumes, arranged neatly on the shelves, are new books.

THE CONSTANTLY growing library is able to meet the reading tastes of children from the kindergarten through the eighth grade.

Ordinarily the lives of the saints you read as children did not inspire you to imitate them, because they were written in a dry, dull style. That is not true today. Now books are written with the idea of drawing children to the knowledge of the lives of the saints as real people with the same trials and faults as people of today. In order to imitate them with a greater love of God.

Let's name a few of these books. Father Brennan's Good and Bad Boy, Today's Heroes, and The Man Who Dared a King are favorites. Brother Ernest's new book, The Good Saint, the Bishop, the Priest and others hold the children's interest throughout.

Mary Fabian Wladenski has endeared herself to the hearts of all in her appealing books, Lad of Lions, The Children of Fatima, and Little Sister. One of the

Why are educators and parents so insistent that children read much and read good literature? They know that reading is one of the most important factors in developing well-rounded good Catholics, the fruit of which is a good American citizen.
