Indifference Abets Reds Priest Tells HNS Men

Communists are less responsible for the spread of Communism as are the indifferent free peoples, the Rev. William J. Naughton, pastor of SS. Peter and Paul's Church, Elmira, told 100 members of the Holy Name Society of Our Lady of Lourdes at their annual Communion breakfast Sunday.

Indifference alike to the blessings of freedom and the moves of the Communists is at the bottom of current gains by the Reds, Father Naughton averred. That indifference takes two forms: taking for granted the blessings that free people have and failing to recognize that isolated moves of Communists are part of a large insidious pattern. "Christians must wake up, snap out of their lethargy if they want to protect their free Church and their free governments," Father Naughton said. They must realize that freedom poses problems that are individual as well as national in scope, and they must shoulder that personal responsibility if

Elmira Catholic Highlights

In an elimination contest held Monday, April 19, Andrew Von Hendy and Rose Marie Cirulli were chosen to represent Elmira Catholic High in the semi-finals of the Bishops Oratorical Contest to be held in Elmira on Monday evening, May 10, at the Dunn Memorial Auditorium. Andrew's speech was entitled "Democracy a Failure or a Triumph?" and Rose Marie's — "Race Prejudice. Alternates for the winners are Thomas Agan whose topic was "Is Universal Military Training Needed?" and Pauline Kujawski's "The Christa. Family, Our Nation's Hope. Others participating were: Mary Rose Turner, The Lesson of Czechoslovakia, Edward Lodico, Today's Negro Problem, Michael Morgan, The Catholic Attitude Toward the Laborer and the Poor. While the judge's sheets were being scored, the student body sang songs accompanied by Carroll Kennedy at the piano.

What I Want To Do After Graduation

For the past several months the topic of conversation most often discussed by the seniors is what they are planning to do after graduation. After inquiring around a bit I found out that for the most part the boys are planning to continue their education in college to fit themselves for such professions as doctors, lawyers and engineers. The majority of girls seem desirous of entering training at St. Joseph's Hospital in September. However, some are planning to go on to college to become teachers and social workers. Of course a few of the girls are going to Business School to round off the excellent training they received here at Catholic High. The seniors realize how essential further education is, and as you can see, they definitely intend to do something about it.

Bids are now being sold and we would like the freshmen and sophomores to know they are cordially invited.

"Do Teen-Agers Have Too Much Freedom?"

Helene Milliken, a senior, took part in a program sponsored by the Family Safety Committees in connection with Public Welfare Agencies last Tuesday at 1:15. The program was not to decide this question either way, but merely to discuss whether or not the teen-agers have too much freedom.

Helene, speaking on the affirmative side, stated, however, that she thought it was an individual problem for each family to solve.

 Corning - Miss Katherine Drouard, daughter of 115 Chemung St., and the late Mrs. Drouard, became the bride of John Lesso, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lesso, 235 Hillvue Ave., Saturday morning in St. Mary's Church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John A. Smith, pastor.
