Milliken Upholds Political Service At First Ukrainian Park Dedication

Americans were urged to serve in the field of politics by Cornelius J. Milliken of Elmira in his speech at the dedication of St. Nicholas Ukrainian Catholic Church's park in Elmira Heights, Monday. He upheld politics as "an honorable profession, a highly developed science, the science of government."

Mr. Milliken, prominent Catholic layman of the Southern Tier, is president of Elmira Deacons Union of the Holy Name Society.

The new park located at Garfield St. and McCauley Ave., Elmira, is the first in New York State to be provided by a Ukrainian Church.

IN HIS ADDRESS stressing the need for right consideration of politics and politicians, Mr. Milliken also paid tribute to the Ukrainian people of Elmira Heights and their pastor, the Very Rev. Waldimir Dowhovick, pastor of St. Nicholas Church and his assistant, the Rev. Stephen P. Shymansky, assistant pastor under both of whose guidance the park was completed.

"The word 'politics' has been bandied about and ridiculed for too long a time," Milliken said in his address. He declared the fact that it has been a sport too long "to brand a person as a politician in order to belittle him."

"But some of the most respected persons in this community, in any community, in the state and in the nation are politicians—the men and women who run our governments, from the town right up to Washington.

"The vast majority engaged in politics are men and women of integrity, honest, upright and genuinely sincere in their desire to serve the public," he declared.

IN HIS TRIBUTE to the Ukrainian people, Mr. Milliken said:

"The character of you and your antecedents for generations has been molded in the crucible of suffering and hardship. That is why America is the gainer for the tribulations and trials you have endured: why the infusion of your culture into the American fabric of society is one of the ennobling factors contributing to its greatness.

"Under the inspiring and zealous leadership of your good pastor, Father Dowhovick and his assistant, Father Shymansky, you have presented the means whereby Christian character may be fully developed and expressed.

"The entire community is indebted to Father Dowhovick for his vision and the gifts of achievement that makes this park possible over 40 years he has spent in the priesthood, serving, guiding, inspiring, spiritually and materially those placed under his charge."

OTHER SPEAKERS included Com. Frank T. Ketter of the County Chapter of Catholic War Veterans, Elmira Heights Mayor

Charles Owen and Michael Sokela, speaking for the congregation. The Very Rev. Michael Kuziv of Syracuse, dean of the Buffalo Ukrainian Deacons, was celebrant at the blessing of the Park.

His assistants were Father Dowhovick, the Rev. Stephen A. Csomko of Syracuse, the Rev. Yaroslav Garbo of Rochester, the Rev. Basil Ostas of Auburn and the Rev. Basil Turcilla of Rochester. Father Shymansky was master of ceremonies.

The new park includes a dance pavilion, refreshment stand and sports equipment of all kinds from sandboxes to horseshoe courts.

Sunday a church picnic, the first in five years, was held.
