

'Stockport Roses' Blooming on Statue Baffle Science Men

LONDON (NC) — A 12-dollar crown of ordinary tea roses, cut 15 months ago and placed by an 8-year-old girl on the statue of Our Lady at the usual May Day ceremony, has become Britain's most popular "Let's forget the crisis" puzzle problem.

The roses were placed on the statue in the plain, 50-year-old, Gothic-style Church of Our Lady of the Rosary, Eaton Norris, Stockport, on May Day last year. And today this little church, atop a hill mysteriously looking down on the greenness of working-class Stockport, is an international attraction — because those roses are still there, untreated, without artificial subtlety, as fresh in appearance as the day on which they were cut.

Aquinas Memorial Stadium To Rise On Mt. Read Blvd.

Arrangements for construction of the new Aquinas Incline Memorial Stadium will be made at once. It was announced today following acquisition of a 13-acre site at the southeast corner of Mt. Read Boulevard and Hedgesway Avenue from the City of Rochester.

FRANK M. HAFFEY

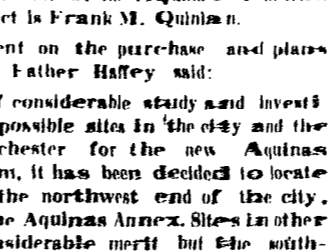

In his statement on the purchase and plans for the stadium, Father Haffey said: "As a result of considerable study and investigation of all the possible sites in the city and environs of Rochester for the new Aquinas Memorial Stadium, it has been decided to locate the stadium in the northwest end of the city, directly behind the Aquinas Annex. Sites in other sections had considerable merit but the southwest corner of Mt. Read Boulevard and Hedgesway Avenue was deemed best for our purposes."
