Redecoration Of Weedsport Church Viewed

Auburn—Rev. Leo A. Jones, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Weedsport, announced today that the firm of Gerace and Forde, of Rochester, had just completed a six weeks work of redecorating the church.

The color scheme worked out by the decorators is of rich gold and warm buff tones on walls and ceiling, Colonial white wood-work and ivory altars.

The Stations of the Cross with ivory frames, antique glazed figures and gold tone background, harmonize perfectly with the rest of the color scheme.

Last Sunday the parishioners had their first opportunity to view the completed work. They expressed themselves as extremely well pleased with the rich quiet dignity of the decorations and the expertness of the work.

"The above figures indicate that our registration has increased nearly 100 per cent in that period," The Chimes, parish publication states.

"Such growth is due to the cooperation of everyone: our people, the sisters and priests—all working together for a most important cause: leading children to Christ."

Cana Conference Groups Join for Family Outing

More than 60 participants in the Cana Conference movement here, and their families enjoyed their first annual outing Sunday, Sept. 12, at Camp Stella Maris on Conesus Lake.

The day's program was begun with the celebration of Mass in the tree-surrounded St. Jude Chapel by the Rev. Joseph J. O'Connell, director of the Cana groups sponsoring the outing.

Following a series of contacts for young and old, the activities closed with outdoor recreation of the Eosary for the conversion of Russia.

Fall dates for Cana meetings, which are days of recollection conducted by Father O'Connell for married couples, were announced for the four groups, which hold such conferences twice yearly at Nazareth Academy.

The groups are: St. John's Group, Nov. 12; St. Joseph's Group, Nov. 26; St. Theresa's Group, Dec. 5; St. Anthony's Group, Dec. 12.
