Xavier vs. Little Irish Aquinas Plays New York City School In Opening Game At Stadium Sunday

Cancelled out of its first scheduled game last weekend, Aquinas Institute's football powerhouse faces Xavier High School of New York City in a delayed opening at the Rochester Red Wing Stadium this Sunday afternoon.

Given bright weather, the Little Irish inaugural may attract 20,000 for the season-ticket sale of $9,000 and a heavy advance sale of single game seats proves public interest in the Aquinas schedule has not been weakened by the week's delay.

UNWILTED by last week's disagreement with Cathedral Prep of Erie over conflicting versions of eligibility rules governing high school players, Coach Harry Wright will meet the Manhattan grid squad with a bigger, better balanced and more deceptive team than Rochesterians saw in 1947.

Xavier High, a Jesuit military school in lower Manhattan, is coached by Leo Paguin, star end of the Fordham team of 1936-37 who like Wright learned the Notre Dame system under Coach Frank Leahy, once line coach at Fordham.

Victors in their opening game, Xavier has a brilliant passer, Captain Bob Henderson, a heavy fullback Angelo Scopellito and two towering ends, Bill Bolger and Jerry Nappy, both over 6' 6", to match the Aquinas deceptions. The New Yorkers, mostly sophomores and juniors, average 200 pounds.

THE AQUINAS line, pivoting around veteran 205-lb center, Art Nowak, will show solid and fast blocking guards in Jim Markalons and Tom Seaman both weighing 200 lbs. Aggressive tackles Frank Legan and Frank Holohan, who each carry 210 rugged pounds, and offensive line play will share the line with second-stringers Cy Krenzer and Bob Irvin.

Boasting rangy ends, and a deadly passer the Irish are expected to fill the air with forward passes to vary their heavy land attack. Ray Rigney, carryover from '47, is one of the fastest and biggest men on the squad at 205 lbs., 6'6". Frank Trubits and Dick Aulenbacher, also six footers, are battling for the other starting end post.

Slender 16-year old Chuck Mailey will be the Aquinas starting quarterback. Although light and inexperienced he is rated a capable strategist and ball handler and the finest high school player on the squad. Coach Wright has known Ray Hasenauer, his understudy, will do the kicking for Aquinas.

Two plunging fullbacks, Jimmy Ging and Al Catalano, will carry the short bucking duties for the Irish. Fullbacks, Joe Barbera, Johnny Della Villa, Roddy Powers and Jim Murphy are expected to be the breakaway ball carriers who will replace last year's Billy Grief in the open field running and point scoring.

THE ERIE GAME was cancelled when Cathedral Prep objected to certain players on the Aquinas roster. Despite a contractual agreement signed in February, 1948 to let each team follow the eligibility rules of their respective states, on Sept. 15, Erie stated that Pennsylvania eligibility requirements apply to the Aquinas team to bar post-graduate players. When it became impossible to arbitrate the disagreement satisfactorily, the opening game was cancelled.

Johnny Della Villa, probable starting righthalfback for Aquinas in their opening game against Xavier High school of New York City at the Red Wing Stadium Sunday afternoon, will be a leading contender for touchdown points in the Aquinas football campaign. He is a senior from St. Francis Xavier parish.

School Athletic Association which Aquinas subscribes to, although Catholic schools are not accredited members, a player is eligible for football if he is not over 19 by Sept. 1 and has only in his fourth year varsity competition even though making post-graduate studies. That Aquinas is using post-graduate students in the athletic department admits, but no player who is over the age limit or who has already played four years of high school football is on the squad, they declare.

Aquinas will schedule another out-of-state Catholic team for a game on Nov. 21 to replace the Erie contest and round out the eight-game program promised to season ticket holders. According to the rules of the New York State Public High

Catholics Urged To Aid DPs Charitably

Denver—(NC)—There was a time when all Catholics were displaced persons, Archbishop Urban J. Vehr of Denver reminded a meeting of the National Catholic Resettlement Council here. The prelate called upon his co-religionists the country over to exercise a spirit of "abundant charity" in helping the European DPs who are scheduled to begin arriving in this country next month.

Delegates to the meeting of the Council, which is composed of leaders of all large Catholic organizations interested in the resettlement of displaced persons, also heard addresses by Bishop Hubert M. Newell, Coadjutor of Wyoming; Msgr. Edward E. Swanstrom, director of War Relief Services—National Catholic Welfare Conference, as well as the Resettlement Council; Edward R. O'Connor, executive assistant of WRS, who was appointed by President Harry S. Truman to the three-man Displaced Persons Commission; and Msgr. John Mulroy, director of the NCRC work in the Denver archdiocese.

BISHOP NEWELL reviewed for the delegates the progress which has been made in the last year for aiding the DPs and emphasized that the real problem will come in making citizens and parishioners of DPs who come to this country. It will be up to the individual communities, the Bishop pointed out, to quell any possible hostility which may arise against the new-comers, and to help them with their language problem and the learning of the American way of life.

MONSIEUR SWANSTROM said reports have been received from directors for the NCRC in 210 dioceses and dioceses in the United States, and indicated a hearty response to the repeated appeal on behalf of the DPs. He stated that it will be necessary to secure at least 500 assurances of homes and jobs per week throughout the country if

Increase in Catholics Kyoto, Japan (NC) — A record number of 248 adult converts has helped to increase the Catholic population of the Prefecture Apostolic of Kyoto by almost 50 per cent during the past year.

The Catholic group is to qualify sufficient of their co-religionists among the DPs to enter the United States under the new law. If U. S. Catholics will cooperate fully in the resettlement program, Monsignor Swanstrom said, there is an opportunity to bring 100,000 Catholics to this country under the law. Committees will be needed locally to help the DPs after the arrival.

He added that the necessary funds for transportation from the port of entry to final destination might prove an obstacle to interested American Catholics, but suggested that larger and richer dioceses might help out the smaller dioceses in this problem.

Catholic Labor Group Asks
Removal of Peru Ban on CIT
San Jose, Costa Rica (NC) — The Catholic sponsored labor movement of Costa Rica, Rerum Novarum, has appealed to the Government of Peru to rescind its ban against the establishment of the headquarters of the Inter American Confederation of Labor at Lima, Peru.
The Inter-American Confederation (CIT) is the non-Marxist international trade movement in South America and has the affiliation of Catholic trade unions. Peru was chosen as the CIT headquarters by delegates meet-
