Elmira Catholic Highlights

By KATHERINE CARSTATER
The past week at Elmira Catholic High School could truly be called "picture-week" with the numerous photos being taken at regular intervals. All types of class activities were photographed for the yearbook. Sophomore group pictures were taken under the direction of Edward Lofko and both the literary and the business staff members were photographed.

DANCE: The "Turkey Trot" Thanksgiving dance held last Friday evening, with a juke box furnishing the music, was quite a success under the co-chairmanship of John Casick and Barbara Romasser. This affair, sponsored by the school sodality, was held in the school hall.

Blessed Sacrament Rectory Progresses

Building of the new rectory for Blessed Sacrament Parish is progressing rapidly, according to the "Parish Weekly," publication of the parish. Probable date of completion will be early in February.

The present priests' residence, located in Rutgers Street next door to the new structure, will be torn down when the work is finished. The rectory and a recreation center, which is planned for the youth of the vicinity, will be the final units of the present parish plant.

Bishop Offers Jubilee Mass At N.Y.C. Church

With His Eminence, Francis Cardinal Spellman presiding, a Solemn Pontifical Mass of Thanksgiving was celebrated by His Excellency, Bishop Kearney in St. Cecilia's Church, New York City, Sunday commemorating the church's seventy-fifth anniversary.

The church at which Bishop Kearney served as assistant pastor has been in charge of the Redemptorist father since 1935.

Cardinal Spellman recounted the growth of the church and praised its priests and members for their "inspiring work" among students in schools of the parish.

Children from parochial and public schools in the parish led a procession that included forty men of the Spanish and English Holy Name Society who formed an honor guard for Cardinal Spellman.

A former pastor, the Rev. John J. Hasey, delivered the sermon.

In his message Cardinal Spellman urged all members of the order of Redemptorist Fathers who have been in charge of St. Cecilia's since the influx of Spanish-speaking Catholics from Puerto Rico began in 1935. The fact that we have 2,400 boys and girls in the schools of this parish is itself the most eloquent tribute and most encouraging sign of the faith that
