

Bishop of Osaka Building Churches

Tokyo — (NC) — What may well be a record for the building of churches is that achieved by the Diocese of Osaka under the dynamic leadership of Bishop Paul Taguchi. He has seen to the restoration of 12 churches destroyed during the war and added six new ones. Two others are under construction.

Bishop Taguchi is also Administrator Apostolic of the missions in Shikoku, fourth largest island of Japan where six churches have been restored since the war and two others built in new missions at Sakaido and Shodoshima.

Nazareth Normal
St. Joseph Nuns' Teacher School Marks Fiftieth Year

began plans for the three year normal course. Her aspirations were fulfilled and a new impetus was given to her efforts when the Nazareth College Charter was granted by the Legislature in 1925 and included the power "to maintain a department for the instruction and preparation of young women in the art of teaching" and the right "to confer literary, scientific, technical and professional degrees."

Six months after the charter was granted, the new Normal Curriculum was inaugurated. In June 1929 Dr. Ned H. Dearborn, then Director of the Teacher Training Division of the New York State Education Department, gave formal approval of the three-year curriculum in these words:
"This is to notify you that having examined the courses of study, faculty qualifications, admission and graduation requirements, library and practice facilities, and having observed several classes conducted by both regular training school instructors and student teachers, the University gives official approval of the work of the Nazareth Normal School."

AT THE TURN of the century, a higher form of certification was set up by the State — the Life State Teacher's Certificate, a credential entitling the holder "to teach for life in any public school in the State of New York."
In 1906 Nazareth Normal School was designated as an authorized center for the taking of Life State Certificate Examinations. Previous to that date, the Sisters who qualified under the Life State took the examinations in Buffalo.

Sister Florentine McCarthy became Director of the Normal School in 1905. Her keen mind, broad aims and far vision made her especially valuable in the training of young religious teachers.
She was intellectually ambitious for every individual who was placed under her care, and had a marvelous gift in discovering latent powers and giving a fine incentive and encouragement to their best development. She was ingenious in finding means for equipping the training school and some of the departments are even today a tribute to her tireless labor.

IN 1916 SISTER ANNA de Paul Quigley was appointed Director. She brought to this position an unusual gift for organization and a keen understanding of the problems and trends in modern education. A graduate of the Rochester City Normal as well as of St. Elizabeths College, she was well prepared to foster both the academic and the professional training of the young teacher and to develop a well-integrated curriculum.
Very early Sister Anna de Paul

FOR WIDER recognition of the degree, it was necessary that the curriculum leading to it be approved by the Teacher Education Division and the Division for Higher and Professional Education of the New York State Department.
The program toward such approval was completed in December 1940 and Dr. J. Hillis Miller, Associate Commissioner in charge of Higher and Professional Education addressed the following communication to Sister Anna de Paul in 1942:
"I herewith advise you that on this date the New York State Department of Education has registered the combined four-year curriculum to be offered at Nazareth Normal School."

Arab Convert Speaks in Paris
Paris (NC) — The solemn reopening of courses at the Institute of the Holy Family, attended by the Cardinals and Bishops of Northern France, featured an address by a Moroccan Franciscan Father who was born a Mohammedan.
He is Pere Abdeljalil, who had just returned from an eight-month survey in Egypt, Lebanon, Iran and Iraq.
Describing the reactions of his Arab brethren to recent events, he urged Christians to pay heed to Arab aspirations to play a role in the community of nations. He painted a dark picture of the distress of Arab refugees in Palestine, reporting that thousands of them died of hunger each month.

105 Years Old

Rev. Joseph Deadough, Greek Catholic pastor at the Christian town of Tayebah in Palestine. (The Biblical town of Ephraim mentioned in St. John's Gospel) is now 105 years old, and believed to be the oldest priest in the Catholic Church. Because of the shortage of Greek-Rite Catholic priests, he is still serving as pastor, and is in good health. His only complaint is that his voice is weak. (NC Photos).
