New $5,000 Church Organ Installed In Holy Cross

The new church organ, built and installed in Holy Cross Church, Lake Avenue by the Tellers Organ Company of Erie, Pa., at a cost of $5,000 was put in service for the Mid-winter Christmas Day.

Professor Leon Acemian was the organist and Sister Mary Ellen, R.S.M., directed the Girls Choir.

PROFESSOR PHILIP KRECK

EL, organist of St. Boniface Church and composer of many musical works for the organ, will play the new instrument at each Mass, Sunday, Jan. 16.

The new organ in respect to size, scale of pipes and quality of stops is especially adapted to the size of the church. These are two manuals and pedal, and the action is of the finest electro-pneumatic type. It contains all the important stops such as diapason, flute, string and reed tones, also the important mixtures in the upper and lower registers.

The whole organ is controlled by a balanced expression pedal which makes it possible to secure the most delicate shading. It also contains a crescendo and diminuendo pedal which makes it possible to increase or diminish the dynamics of the instrument.

Some of the larger pipes form a beautiful display in gold colors with artistic grille and casework of solid rich oak to harmonize with the color scheme and architecture of the church.

The three stained glass windows in the choir loft which had been hidden by the old organ are now visible for the first time. The Tellers Organ Co. deserves hearty congratulations for a splendid and artistic achievement, according to the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Lawrence B. Casey, pastor.

Catholic High Lights

By KATHERINE CARSTATER

First week of school in 1949 at Elmira Catholic High has found most of the students excitedly relating the happenings of "that all too short vacation" to everyone.

Holidays are the times when the hard working student has the opportunity to rest up for the trying times ahead. Those of them who are more ambitious preferred to spend the days working at their various jobs. The students of Catholic High are no exception. But as wonderful as the holidays are, it is always good to get back to the center of their common social life — school.

As we glanced about the halls of learning this week, we could see that Santa had indeed distributed a new look to a great many. Corduroy jackets and angora sweaters were being sported by a goodly number. But clothes were not the only subject of admiration. It seems that Santa left a greatly appreciated gift of a typewriter at the homes of a senior and a junior. The lucky individuals were Kathleen Cloke and William Mosher.

What's this we hear about the two rich senior girls who each received a hundred dollars? They certainly must have friends. Perhaps we shouldn't mention any names though; we don't want any fake friendships started. Mary Ann Lepa received a gift of an alarm clock which she needed to get to school on time in the mornings.

Speaking of Christmas gifts, John Godwin received two front teeth which he doesn't need, but it seems that he is keeping them for his later years.

No vacation report is complete without a few words from the traveller. Jeanette Peterson decided that the sights of New York City needed a little of her attention in order to be fully appreciated. Although she was enthused about all her tours, she was especially impressed by her visit to the R.C.A. building where she admired the enormous display of new toys that will be in fashion this year. She was bubbling over with so much enthusiasm that we wouldn't be surprised if she decided to get a few for herself.

We hear that Dorothea Woldzik spent some of her vacation in Wilkes-Barre and in a report from one senior girl we understand that the blizzards are really blowing in the western part of the state, around the Lake Champlain region. In fact the drifts were so tantalizing that she almost could not make it.

Fordham Chapel, New York (N.C.). His Eminence Francis Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York, has dedicated the 153-year-old Fordham University Church as a memorial to the 229 Fordham men who gave their lives in World War II. The church was recently remodeled and redecorated.

back in time for school this week. Tom Agan and James Murphy spent a few days in Rochester. While mentioning snowstorms, a similar incident occurred with Sister Mary Lourdes last Monday. She was a little late for school due to the bad roads from Geneva, which were heaped with snow.

However, no one had to go away from home to encounter snowy weather these days. The frozen ponds of our fair city of frozen enjoyment to many of the members of the freshman class in particular had numerous skating parties.

A group of juniors had a party at Mary Hogan's home on Christmas night.

Members of the senior class, Jean Milliken was Miss Opportunity for one of the shopping days last week.

Many of the students have jobs in the downtown stores during vacation and these really seemed the happiest to come back to school. As one girl said, they were so tired of working that it seemed good to get back to school where you could rest. But school is a place of busy activity. A short Saturday meeting is being held on Tuesday and on that evening Tom Agan will deliver his speech for the American Legion Oratorical Contest at the Legion home in Elmira. Tom's subject is "The Constitution is our Everyday Life."

With the mid-year examinations approaching everyone can agree that it wouldn't be a bad idea to settle down to work in spite of the happy remembrances of the holidays. As Maureen Maloney so truthfully said, "I had a wonderful time skating, sleeping, and eating but it's good to get back to the good old books."

Deanery Pontifical Mass Brings Out 1000 HNS Men

asked the congregation to pray for Blessed John's canonization which he said is "within the realm of possibility."

This year also will be the 40th anniversary of the establishment of the Holy Name national headquarters, set up in 1909 in the basement of St. Vincent Ferrer Church in New York City. There then were 1500 parish branches. Father Graham said. Today they number more than 12,000.

A PROCESSION of Mass officers, with Bishop Kearney imparting his blessing to the faithful, preceded the offering of the traditionally colorful Pontifical Sacrifice.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. William M. Hart, P.A., V.I., pastor of Corpus Christi Church, was assistant priest. Deacons of honor were the Rt. Rev. Msgr. F. William Stauffer, pastor of Holy Redeemer Church and first spiritual director of the Diocesan Holy Name Union, and the Rev. Arthur F. Florack, pastor of St. Michael's Church and assistant spiritual director of the Union.

The Rev. Patrick J. Flynn, Diocesan Union spiritual director, served as deacon, and the Rev. Thomas F. McVeigh, moderator of the Corpus Christi Holy Name Pilgrimage to Fatima, St. Meinrad, Ind. (N.C.). The Rev. Jerome Palmer, O.S.B., editor of The Grail, monthly magazine, has been appointed spiritual director of the Second National Pilgrimage to Fatima, Portugal that will leave New York by air on May 9, 1949. This pilgrimage is under the auspices of International Catholic Travel Service.

Society, was subdeacon. The Rev. John E. Maney was master of ceremonies while students of St. Andrew's Seminary filled the minor offices. The parish choir, under direction of Robert Hennessy, sang the responses.

IN THE SANCTUARY were the Very Rev. John S. Randall, spiritual director of the Rochester Police Holy Name Society, and several priest-directors of various parish branches. Delegation of officers from other laymen's groups were in the congregation.

It was the third such annual observance of the Holy Name feast day sponsored by the Rochester Deanery Holy Name Union. Previous celebrations were held in St. Michael's and St. Monica's Churches.

Cooperating in arrangements were the executive committees of the Diocesan Union, of which Lewis A. Schur is president, and the Deanery Union, headed by Edward M. Lorscheider.
