CLEAN ST. PETER'S CLOCK

In Vatican City, repairmen climb to the huge dome of St. Peter's Basilica, to clean the rust on the clock mounted there. Pieces of traveling, which form the Papal coat of arms and the two angels at the sides, began falling into the Square below, because of the rusty fittings. The dial of the clock is 13 feet high. Wide World Photo. (NC Photos).

Sodality Meeting
Every one readily agrees last week's monthly Sodality meeting was the most interesting one of the year. Each committee at its customary presented a short program which was not only agreeable to witness but successful in putting across a point.

Our Lady's committee made a big hit with their "Truth or Consequences" act. When quizzmaster Ralph Reed ran into the room all decked out with black top hat and long cloak, he had a ready answer for the audience. William Lorden however was asked to suffer the consequences were over Patricia Boyle lashed to answer the questions. For every question missed he received a punishment too gruesome to describe here, at the hands of his tormentors. But William took it all in good fun.

Robert Shields did a nice bit of acting for the Publicity committee's project involving Church Unity Octave, Bob has a dream in which he learns the importance of praying for the Church's intentions. The other characters in the act all helped him towards realizing this necessity.

The clear ringing voice of James Agan, the Dugpatch bard of John Murphy and the helpful advice of St. Peter (Robert Jaski), all combined in making the skit a great success. Activities such as these not only illustrate a point but they also help to develop various talents of the Sodality.

The Apostolic committee had Norman Hoesy as their professor and he asked some pretty thought-provoking questions regarding our duties to the Blessed Mother because of our Act of Consecration when received into the Sodality. Pat Donahue and Jean Milliken also brought out some of the qualities of a good Sodality in a skit put on by the Eucharistic committee.

Any Old Stamps?
The stamp drive is on and so is the race between the home rooms. However it would be hard to determine the number of stamps from each room as that is a military secret. These cancelled stamps are being sent to the missions which in turn sell bundles of them to collectors who buy them with the hope that there may be stamps of some value to them.
Year Book Wind-up
The literary staff has been very busy for the past few weeks finishing the write ups as this material must all be in by the first of next month. The list of the senior class pictures have been taken. This week students are deeply engrossed with studying for the exams.

Share The Faith Program
Features CDA Dinner

A "Share The Faith Program" featured the tureen supper held by Court St. Rita No. 187, Catholic Daughters of America at the court's home in Elmira, Jan. 24.

Miss Elizabeth R. Holleran, state chairman of Share The Faith, was in charge. The program terminated the Church Unity Octave observed from Jan. 18 to 25.
Mrs. Mary Leary read a sermon "Return of the Other Sheep to the One Fold," delivered by the Most Rev. Vincent S. Waters, D.D. at the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in Washington. The sermon covered the story of the Good Shepherd urging Catholics of the nation to pray for the return to the fold of non-Catholics.
A seminar on The Church was given by Mesdames William Holleran, John Murphy, Dominic Simiolo, Jane Walsh, Frank Maloney, Harry Pean, Fred Battersby and Edward Connelly. Miss Anna Fitten acted as moderator.
Mrs. Charles Hughes had charge of the music and led in group singing.

Change the World... Rosemarie Chullin was very excited about her recent weekend trip to Mercyhurst College in Erie, Pa. where she attended the winter carnival.
Alumni News
Joseph Lynch '34 was recently elected commander of St. Michael Post Catholic War Veterans... James Powers '35 elected adjutant... Mrs. Virginia McGill Kerstetter '36 is Japan bound to join her husband Captain Oscar Kerstetter.
