College Slates Summer Library Science Course

Summer courses in Library Science designed to serve the needs of teacher-librarians in elementary and small high schools are being offered by Nazareth College to begin this coming summer.

Consisting of two three-hour courses in a three-summer sequence, the program will carry through 1949, 1950 and 1951, to be re-offered again in 1952.

NAZARETH COLLEGE has also been authorized by the State Education Departmento g i v e four courses in Library Science to its regular students. This is planned to provide the 'undergraduate courses required for entrance to a graduate library school, since the existing library schools are rapidly becoming graduate schools.

Others whom courses in Library Science are designed to help are teachers, social workers, nurses and research students. Beginning with the 1949 fall session, one course will be given each semester as follows: Fall, 1949 — References and Bibliography for College Students, 3 credit hours; Spring, 1950 — Book Selection for College Students, 3 hours; Fall, 1950 — History of Books and Libraries, 3 hours; Spring, 1951 — The Library in Contemporary Society, 3 hours.

Elmira Catholic High Lights

By KATHERINE CARSTATER

"Don't Be a Schmo let's go!" the campaign for yearbook patrons is on. The Pep Assembly put on by the seniors last week inaugurated this slogan by featuring many cleverly changed tunes to fit the occasion. The voices of seniors lack no vocal chords as was clearly demor trated.

Editor-in-chief Ed Lodige and business manager Tom Agan strongly encouraged students to haunt out their patrons. The reward will be worthwhile because five patrons or $25 produced will entitle the worker to a free yearbook. The poetry of Jim Owens followed by the encouragement of our principal Father Burns fired us with a spirit of enthusiasm and the next few days will find us all busy scurrying the land for prospects (we hope).

To enliven our spirits with more energy, the assembly was finished off by movies depicting the atomic bomb in action over Bikini.

Yak Yak

"Should comic books be abolished?" Here was the subject of the recent junior class debate in English and what a debate! The affirmative team headed by Frances Dowling and supported by Lois Boyle and Ralph Reed lost the argument to the enthusiastic supporters of the idea, headed by William Mosher and followed up by Raymond Winieski, Regina Bush and Andrew Von Hendy. Both teams put up a spirited fight. Any casual passers-by on the street could agree with that

Hobbyists of the school are urged to try their luck in the First Annual Hobby Show being sponsored by the Elmira Junior Association of Commerce April 1 and 2 are the dates of the grand event location, Trinity Club House Rosemarie Cirulli and yours truly are still gossiping about our recent journey to Rochester to try the Nazareth College scholarship exam.

The hospitality and beauty of the northern surroundings affected us as any senior agrees . Sodality meeting Monday night will ably pave the way to the approaching season of Lent.

Freshmen

Pave the way for the new up and coming baseball team organized among the freshmen, recent practices and meetings of the team have been the build-up for a forthcoming "hat" group. Co-captained by Robert Janeski and James Farley we wish the group all of the best

70 to 26 was the score, time and place was the Armory last Tuesday night The occasion for celebration is the dynamic victory of the sophomore basketball team over the Company E Junior Varsity with John God win scoring the highlight, 16 points. The second victory this week came Thursday night when Thomas Curran's highest 11 points enabled the team to win over the Company F Junior cadets with a scoring of 41 34. Nice work guys

Of Interest

Fredick Connelly is his name and this gentleman has become famous for being Elmira Catholic High's only lay teacher. Coming to the school in January 1933 as a graduate of Holy Cross, Mr. Connelly was instrumental in building up the social activities of a then small but growing school of 100 students which had only reached the capacity of the junior clas.

In a recent interview with Mr. Connelly, we are able to discover the life of a Catholic High student in those days. 1933 marked the beginning of the system of having assemblies, the formation of a business and biology club and the organization of a sodality. Aside from being the teacher of religion classes and Introduction to Business, Mr. Connelly was prominent as manager of athletics

The success of the first basketball banquet was largely due to his efforts and it was the same year that Catholic High won the basketball championship for Catholic high schools in New York State and Pennsylvania.

It was Mr. Connelly who gave his ardent support to the informal asser ies who helped bring about the first Junior Prom held in Dunn Memorial Auditorium on May 26, 1933. Along with these activities he also acted as faculty adviser and assisted in the publication of the first school newspaper, the "Catholic High Review."

Leaving the school in June '33, Mr. Connelly went with Catholic Charities as a social worker for 7 months . . . from March '34 'till 1937 he was investigator for the City Welfare Department . . . 1937 also saw him with the state of New York as a parole officer for the state school for delinquents boys at Industry New York and in Syracuse he also supervised boys on parole . . . transferred to Buffalo as parole officer in 1939 . . . received his M.A degree in '41 from the University of Buffalo as a social worker . . . the years '42-'46 found him with the 69th Infantry Division in European combat where they met the Russians on the Elbe . . . the war over, he studied French for three months at the University of Dijon . . . the present time finds him as psychiatric and medical social worker for the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Buffalo . . . his work includes supervising veterans on trial from psychiatric hospitals and also veterans released from T.
