Real First Lady Thanks Counterpart in 'Inaugural'

Mrs. Harry S. Truman sent her congratulations this week to a Nazareth Academy senior, Catherine Lawson, who impersonated her as "the First Lady" in the recent mock-inaugural ceremony staged at Aquinas Institute by the Aquinas History Club.

A few days after the "inauguration," Miss Lawson sent Mrs. Truman the clippings and pictures of the event which appeared in the Courier Journal and the Rochester daily papers. In a personal letter, she described the details of the History Club demonstration and the pleasure she had had in impersonating the "President's wife."

Mrs. Truman replied: Dear Miss Lawson: I was interested in reading your letter and the articles you enclosed about the mock-inaugural ceremony in your school. This seems to have been a very fine program and I congratulate all of you who had a part in it.
