Bishop Kearney Ordination Class To Arrive Today Serve In 7 Dioceses From Overseas

HIGHLIGHTS OF Bishop Kearney's visit to Italy were revealed in a transcribed radio message which he made in the Vatican radio studios for rebroadcast to the diocese last Sunday over the facilities of WELAM. Most impressive was the surprise greeting given the Bishop when he landed in Naples by a group of former Italian war-prisoners who were interned in the Rochester area during the war years.

The Bishop related how he was approached at the pier in Naples by a group of young men who presented him with a bouquet of red roses. Their spokesman said: "We represent the Italian war-prisoners who were quartered in your diocese. You gave us the care of a kind father and we come here with the flowers of Italy to welcome you and to thank you and the priests who ministered to us."

"This brief and simple ceremony touched me deeply," the Bishop said. "It showed that the memory of those men carried back from our nation was one of which we need never be ashamed."

Commenting on his private audience with Pope Pius XII, Bishop Kearney described the Holy Father as "the noblest personality of our century, a benign and gentle spirit, truly a Vicar of Christ and so Christ like himself."

He conveyed the Pope's blessing and gratitude to Rochester diocesan and mentioned the Pontiff's special interest in the new St. Andrew's Seminary and the proposed college of St. John Fisher.

DESCRIBING THE widespread war destruction which he saw between Naples and Rome, the Bishop observed that reconstruction of Italian village and roads and industries is progressing slowly. "Impeded by lack of materials and not by indolence or indifference."

The new government is doing a "fine job," he stated, but is constantly under attack from Communists who seek to discredit its efforts and deceive the people with "propaganda of lying promises."

"THE RELIEF which American offer Italy's unimproved conditions may be the sole difference between Christ and hopeless chaos," the Bishop said. He reported that on the morning of his broadcast he had offered a special Mass for all the Rochester diocese at the shrine of the original picture of Our Lady of Perpetual Help.

'Blue Sisters' Get Pontifical Status

Cleveland — (INCA) — Elevation of the 85-year-old religious community of the Sisters of the Holy Humility of Mary to the dignity of a Pontifical Congregation has been announced here.

This religious congregation's motherhouse is located at Villa Maria, Pa. Although in territory of the Pittsburgh diocese, it was regarded as a religious community of the Cleveland diocese.

It now returns to the Pittsburgh diocese along with its elevation. The order has 337 professed Sisters, 15 novices, and 12 postulants. It conducts three academies, one at the motherhouse in Villa Maria, one in Cleveland and one in Canton in the Youngstown diocese, which recently became a co-educational diocesan high school. It also conducts general hospitals in Youngstown and Warren in the Youngstown diocese and in Lorain in the Cleveland diocese. It operates too, the Rose-Mary Home for Crippled Children, a Cleveland diocesan Catholic Charities supported institution in Suclid, O.

Sisters of this congregation are familiarly known as the "Blue Nuns" because of their blue habits.
