Holy Land Prelate Voices Concern For Religious Rights

By BRO. ANTHONY BELVA, O.F.M. Amman, Jordan - (NC) - "Bitter disillusion in the face of so many false promises" is expressed by the Rt. Rev. Albert Gori, O.F.M., Custos of the Holy Land, in a pastoral which movingly describes the difficulties and dangers encountered by the Franciscans during the last 12 months of violence and strife in Palestine.

"IN THE FACE of repeated denunciations by the new state of Israel, we thought for a while that we should have nothing to fear," the Custos writes. "But the experiences of these last months have made us perplexed and doubtful."

"The refusal to let us exercise our most sacred rights, the attempts to invade our properties, the systematic refusal of our requests regarding the movement of our religious personnel, the open hostility against some of our Religious - perhaps because they knew and still know how to defend and protect their own rights and those of the poor populations that remained under their care - is grieving us deeply and it has taken from us any confidence in a race which should have felt at least a certain debt of gratitude toward those who exposed their own lives in order to safeguard and protect them, and that in a quite recent period."

WHILE EMPHASIZING that the political phase of the Palestine issue is not of primary concern to the Franciscans, the Custos declares that they cannot remain indifferent toward those "delicate questions" involving the shrines, our work and our activities which must arise in connection with any new administration of Palestine.

"Such questions" he adds, "are in fact the assurance of liberty of our work of the free exercise of religion, of free access to the shrines, and all those liberties which are the inheritance of great sufferings and difficulties undergone by our predecessors during so many centuries."

Convert Ex-Red Eyes Parliament

London - (NC) - Fred Copman, ex-communist received into the Church a few years ago, has been chosen as prospective Parliamentary candidate for North Levensham, London.

Mr. Copman was prominent as leader of the Invigoration, Scotland, British naval mutiny over pay and conditions before the last war and commanded two British battalions of the International Brigade during the Spanish Civil War. His autobiography, "Reason in Revolt," has sold 30,000 copies.

Rights of Parochial Pupils To Federal Aid Defended

MISS BORCHARDT said that the 8,500,000 members of the A. F. of L. were interested primarily in two things in any Federal aid measure, that at least 75 per cent of the funds be earmarked to raise public school teachers' salaries, and that aid in the way of school services be extended to all of America's school children, whether in public or nonpublic schools.

Representative Fogarty commented that "Congress is on the way to committing a serious error, in discriminating against certain school children." He said that a bill which he proposed would make bus transportation, for one thing, available to all children under the School Lunch Act formula.

FATHER MCMAHON told the subcommittee that the two bills which have been given most attention, the Thomas Bill and the Bardet Bill, "violate the very premises for Federal assistance to the nation's school children." "The bills are supposed to equalize educational opportunity; actually, they would produce greater inequalities of opportunity. The measures, presumably would benefit all American school children; actually, the proposed bills prohibit any form of assistance to non-public school pupils and at least tolerate the denial of this help to educationally underprivileged children of minority groups," he stated.

"THE TWO measures explicitly prohibit any federal official to interfere with the curriculum of the teachers of any school

Working Girl Training Plan Backed By Dutch Employers

The Hague - (CIP) - Many Dutch factory-girls are receiving domestic and religious training for their future family life one afternoon each week during working hours and without loss of wages. They are enrolled in "Mater Amabilis Schools," a unique training venture established in The Netherlands with the cooperation of employers.

THE LATEST branch of the "Mater Amabilis Schools" which is now opening at the Hague is typical of their operation. The girls pay half a guilder per week (about 19c), and factory owners pay the same amount for each girl in their employ attending the course.

THE TRAINING is designed for girls between the ages of 16 and 23. It provides courses one afternoon each week in domestic arts and religious instruction intended to meet the needs of family life.

Catholic, Protestant and non-denominational groups are cooperating in the plan. In addition to the regular instruction the girls meet for entertainment and recreation several evenings during the course.

The "Mater Amabilis Schools" were first started in the predominantly Catholic Southern provinces of The Netherlands three
