Communist War on Church Hidden By Propaganda Lies

ONCE THE WAR was over, communists reverted to its true colors. It opposed any genuine religion within its borders or in the conquered countries.

It began first in Yugoslavia and Rumania, moved into Hungary, and is currently developing in Czechoslovakia.

IN CATHOLIC countries, such as France and Italy, the conflict with religion was played down. It was possible for many believers to argue that things would be different in their country.

For the same reason, the Church has banned any actions which give assistance or comfort to communism.

THE FORBIDDING OF collaboration with communists is more practical for American Catholics than other aspects of the recent Communist practice.

House Argument Stalls Aid Bill

(Continued from Page 1) Thomas Bill was sent to it from the upper house the first week in May and the Bardeen Bill was approved by a subcommittee early in June.

Catholic school authorities have been vehement in opposition to the Thomas Bill, though this opposition was overshadowed some what by the dramatic protest of Catholics against the more obviously restrictive Bardeen Bill.

THE PROTESTANT and other Americans United for Separation of Church and State entered the Federal Aid picture with a denunciation of Representative Sims' efforts to get the Thomas Bill out of committee.

IN THE FIELD of government, many liberals were likewise willing to work along with communists for the attainment of sound objectives.
