

Only Few Vacancies Left for Camperships at Villa Marie

A few vacancies still remain for both boys and girls at Camp Villa Marie. Campers who have passed their seventh birthday and have not attained their thirteenth should register immediately.

The girls are to be at camp at 2 p.m. Monday, Aug. 6. They will remain until Monday evening, Aug. 13, when they will entertain their families at the closing Camp Fire from 7 to 9 p.m. the following day, Tuesday, Aug. 14. The happy boy campers, who will leave more than three weeks ago, will check in at the Hall at 2 p.m. The boys also will invite their parents for a grand Camp Finale on Tuesday, Aug. 23.

THE GIRLS' Camp program will include daily Mass and Holy Communion. Each day will end with good night prayers at the feet of Our Lady's Statue.

Of special interest will be the varied schedule, including movies, swimming, volleyball, dramatics, music, dancing and crafts. All-day hikes, amateur nights and camp fires will round out the entertaining and educational activities that will keep campers busy and gay until they reluctantly close their eyes in sleep.

Miss Dorothy A. Keown, the popular director of the Girls' Camp, will be assisted by a trained and capable staff, to whom parents may safely trust the welfare of their daughters. Mrs. Virginia O'Hara, waterfront director for the third year, will have on her staff the Misses Theresa Hogan and Jean Ann Fitzgerald.

Directing other activities, acting as unit leaders or as assistants on projects, will be Mrs. Sue Clifford, who has been director of the Day Camp for Scouts at Birchlands for several years. Also Misses Patricia Gilmore, Mary Ellen Collins, Lois Kelly, Mary Alice Manning, Patricia Ann Elyde, Mary E. Claire, Marguerite Puscaro, Ruth Osterlag and Jean Ann Sullivan.

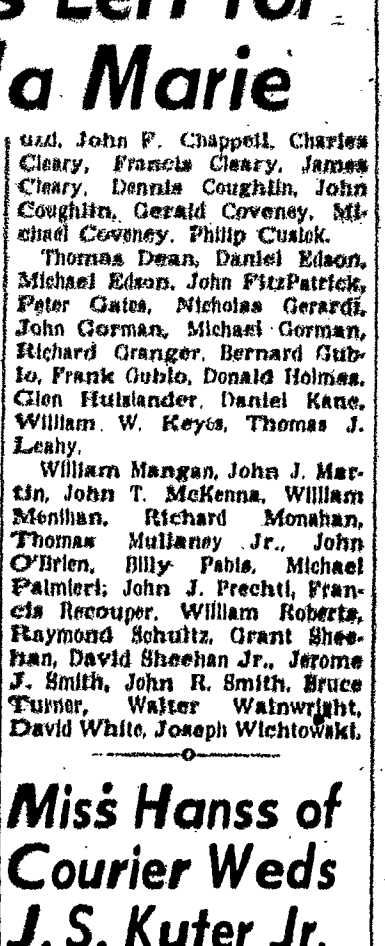

BOY CAMPERS among the first to register include Daniel Aloi, James Allyn, Martin Anderson, Joseph Andrade, Charles Andrews, Ignatius Andrews, Michael Baranski, Jack Bilson, George Carver, Anthony Caal-

and, John F. Chappell, Charles Cleary, Francis Cleary, James Cleary, Dennis Coughlin, John Coughlin, Gerald Convey, Michael Convey, Phillip Cusick.

Thomas Dean, Daniel Edson, Michael Edson, John FitzPatrick, Peter Gales, Nicholas Gerard, John Gorman, Michael Gorman, Richard Granger, Bernard Gubilo, Frank Gubilo, Donald Holmes, Glen Hulslander, Daniel Kane, William W. Keys, Thomas J. Leahy.

HINDU GOES TO HOLY SEE

The first diplomatic representative from India to the Holy See arrives at the Vatican to present his credentials. Dhirajol Shulabhai Desai, is shown accompanied by Papal Chief of Ceremonies, Mgr. Nardone, and Papal Guards. A Hindu and native of Bombay, he will have the title of Indian Minister to Switzerland, where he will reside, visiting his Vatican office at intervals. (NC Photos)

Father of Priest Dies Suddenly

Funeral services for Charles S. Langworthy, 71, father of the Rev. Charles C. Langworthy, assistant chaplain at Cornell University, will be held at 9:30 a.m. Friday, July 28, in the home at 84 Rosalind St. and at 10 o'clock in Our Lady of Good Counsel Church.

Mr. Langworthy, a trustee of the parish since its organization almost 20 years ago and a past president of the Men's Club who had been traffic manager at General Railway Signal Corporation since 1930, died unexpectedly at home Tuesday, July 26, 1940.

A native of Rochester, he attended School 30 Rochester High School and LaSalle University in 1910 as a player on the old Monarch team. He was one of the outstanding tennis players in the area.

Besides his priest son Mr. Langworthy is survived by his wife, Mrs. Katherine I. Cassidy Langworthy; another son Robert W. Langworthy; three brothers, Thomas, Fred and Henry Langworthy; and two grandchildren.

Funeral of Retired English Priest Conducted at Groton

McLean — Solemn Funeral Mass for the Rev. George H. Hawkins, 82, who gave up fourteen years of labor at St. Patrick's Church here in 1946 because of ill health, was conducted at St. Anthony's Church, Groton on Tuesday, July 19.

Father Hawkins, ordained in Nottingham Diocese, England, in 1877, spent most of his priestly life in the British West Indies, the Leeward Islands and Newfoundland before coming to America seeking a milder climate. After a short stay in Virginia he settled in Sempronias and later in McLean.

Bishop O'Hara had reopened St. Patrick's mission church here, and when Rev. Myron Connel, who had been serving the parish, was appointed professor at St. Bernard's Seminary, Father Hawkins was given charge.

ONLY LAST month Father Hawkins offered Mass both at St. Patrick's and in St. Anthony's, Groton. He died Saturday, July 16, at Cortland Hospital, Cortland, in his 77th year of priesthood. His many friends in this area were saddened at his passing.

Father Hawkins' ministry in many places was a reflection of the universality of the Church, the Rev. Donald M. Cleary, Cornell University chaplain, pointed out in the eulogy sermon. Father Hawkins had said, like His Divine Master he gave about doing good.

The Funeral Mass was offered by the Rev. William E. Hayes, pastor of St. Anthony's Church, of which St. Patrick's is a mission parish. The Rev. Francis C. Waterman of Moravia was deacon and the Rev. Joseph T. Maloney of King Ferry was subdeacon. Master of ceremonies was the Rev. William Byrne of Ithaca.

A PRIESTRY choir composed of the Reverend Father Charles Langworthy, John S. Maloney, Paul J. Lynch, John P. Ingersoll, Irwin Sullivan and John T. Walsh sang the Mass.

Among those present in the sanctuary were the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John A. Conway, V.F., the Rt. Rev. Msgr. William E. Cowen, the Rev. John B. Crowley and the Rev. William Davis, all of Auburn, and the Reverend Joseph B. Delahunt, Leonard M. Barry and David Hartnett of Cortland.

Surviving Father Hawkins are two brothers, Edgar Hawkins of McLean and the Rev. Albert Hawkins of Budleigh Salterton, Devonshire, England. Interment was in the family plot in St. Patrick's Cemetery, where a final blessing was given by Father Hayes and other priests.

K. C. Ladies Plan Dinner For Kinney

Plans for a testimonial dinner in September for John J. Kinney, immediate past grand knight of Rochester Council, Knights of Columbus, will be made at the regular meeting of the K. of C. Ladies Auxiliary at 8:15 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 4, in Parlor A Columbus Civic Center.

Mrs. Peter Flanagan, who will preside, will be honorary chairman of the testimonial dinner committee with Mrs. Raymond L. Nary as general chairman. Hostesses for the Aug. 4 meeting will be Mrs. Paul Pedmore, Mrs. Ralph Weiss, Mrs. Frank Melville and Mrs. George Vick. Cards will follow the brief session.

Briens Mark 61st Wedding Anniversary

Relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brien Sr., 777 G. St., will celebrate their 61st wedding anniversary on Sunday, July 30, on the occasion of their 61st wedding anniversary.

It will be a quiet celebration according to the 85-year-old husband, who has been a lifelong resident of St. Peter and Paul parish and received five Sacraments in that church—Baptism, Penance, Holy Eucharist, Confirmation and Matrimony. He also sang baritone in the parish choir for 60 years.

Still hearty and active—he works a few hours daily in a nearby store—Mr. Brien retired in 1939 after 62 years as a floor coverer with the Howe and Rogers firm when that company went out of business. Almost daily he takes his 83-year-old wife, now semi-invalided, on short auto trips in the city and vicinity.

The couple has two sons, Fred A. Brien Jr. with whom they reside, and Raymond T. Brien. There are nine grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

One of the grandchildren is Sister Joseph Order nun—Sister Anne Helene, teacher at St. Francis Xavier School. Three others are nuns in the School Sisters of Notre Dame, Baltimore.

Corning Weddings

Payne - Bonomo

The marriage of Miss June D. Payne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Payne of 4 Oakwood Drive, Painted Post, and Edward P. Bonomo, son of Mrs. and Mrs. Carl Bonomo of 293, 8th Ave., took place recently in St. Vincent de Paul's rectory. The Rev. Joseph V. Gullion, pastor, performed the ceremony.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Lucille Bonomo, sister of the bridegroom. Arthur Bonomo was best man. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bridegroom's parents. Later the couple left for a brief trip. Upon their return they will live at Stewart Court.

Mrs. Bonomo attended Painted Post High School. Mr. Bonomo, a veteran of two years' service with the Navy, attended St. Mary's School and is a graduate of Northside High School. He is employed as produce manager at the Grand Union store in Painted Post.

Medical Work Of Missionaries Wins Souls By Healing The Sick

New York —(RNS)—New York newsmen got an insight last week into one of the most impressive phases of Christian missionary work—that carried on by medical missionaries in parts of the world where millions of people still lack the benefits of modern medicine.

When reporters asked 74-year-old Dr. Albert Schweitzer, famed the world's foremost medical missionary, who is now on his first visit to the United States, why he had selected medicine as a means of serving humanity, he replied:

"Because in medicine you can act without having to talk."

FOR MORE than a century, Christian missionaries have recognized that works of social service must lie at the foot of all missionary activity. In other words, it is not enough to preach the Gospel to the pagan peoples of China, Africa, or elsewhere; they must be shown Christianity in practice and action.

Theology and medicine have been linked together since the earliest Christian missionaries devoted themselves to the sick and needy, but organized, professional medical missions are comparatively modern.

In the United States, as in other countries, virtually every major Protestant denomination which sends missionaries abroad earmarks sizable sums of money for the upkeep of hospitals, dispensaries, and clinics, and the maintenance of doctors and nurses in mission lands. The same is true of the Roman Catholic Church, whose missionaries include thousands of nurses specially qualified as nurses and hospital administrators.

Figures of recent years show that Catholic missionaries maintain 3,743 hospitals and dispensaries, employing 111 doctors, assisted by thousands of nurses who are registered nurses and other thousands of lay nurses.

Because Catholic canon law forbids a priest to practice medicine except under rare circumstances, most of the Catholic mission hospitals are staffed by lay doctors.

ONE OF THE leading American medical mission organizations in the Catholic medical mission Board, Inc., in New York, which every year sends tons of medical supplies to foreign mission centers. The board, which also serves as a clearing house of information on medical subjects for missionaries, is headed by the Rev. Edward F. Garcesche, S.J., who is assisted by nurses belonging to the Daughters of Mercy, Health of the Sick, an order which he founded 14 years ago.

The sisterhood is one of several engaged exclusively, or almost exclusively, in medical mission work. Others are the Medical Missionaries of Mary (Ireland), the Medical Mission Sisters (India), the Maryknoll Sisters (United States), the Missionary Canonesses of St. Augustine (Belgium), the Missionary Sisters of St. Francis Xavier (United States), and the Society of Catholic Medical Missionaries, founded at Washington, D. C., in 1925 by Sister Anna Dengel, M.D.

Parents Defend Parish Schools

Munich —(NC)—One-third of the parents of the city of Nuremberg have expressed their preference for parochial schools following an attempt of the socialist-controlled municipal government to rule out such schools in defiance of Bavaria's constitution.

The ratio in preference of parochial schools came out in the course of the enrollment for the first grade just completed there. It showed that 683 children were enrolled in Catholic schools, 743 in Protestant schools and 2,331 in public schools. When parents preferring parochial schools protested against the socialist administration's attempt to bar such schools entirely, the Bavarian Supreme Court upheld the constitution.

Here in Munich 80 per cent of the parents expressed themselves in favor of parochial schools.

British Parents Lose School Tax Fight

London —(NC)—The view of the Royal Commission on Population, indorsing tax cuts for parents, was quoted in the House of Commons by Christopher Hollis, leading Conservative M.P., in an unsuccessful bid to obtain income-tax relief for Catholics and others who send their children to non-state schools.

Mr. Hollis moved an amendment to the Finance Bill under which such parents would receive an income-tax rebate of 75 pounds ($300). These parents, he argued, "pay rates and taxes to maintain free schools" and yet are relieving the state of the cost of educating their own offspring. His amendment was defeated 374 to 125.

Youth Saves Holy Eucharist

St. Perpetua, L'Islet, Que. (NC)—Jean Figeon, a youth who was one of the first to reach the scene when flames broke out in the local Catholic church shortly after midnight, risked his life to save the Blessed Sacrament.

Flames were already licking at the tabernacle when young Figeon, ignoring personal danger, rushed in for the Blessed Sacrament and carried it to the altar to safety.

Damaged to the church, built only three years ago, was estimated at more than $25,000.

Difficulties Face Red Zone Catholics

Berlin —(RNS)—The Roman Catholic Church is operating under "great difficulties" in Soviet-occupied Land Mecklenburg area of the Osnabruck diocese, according to Bishop William Berning.

He told a pilgrimage attended by 10,000 faithful that Catholics in the Russian-controlled region have no use of schools and restaurants as churches.
