At Our House A House of 'Transients'

By MARY TINKLE DALY

This summer our house has been like Union Station. Everybody, it seems, either is getting ready to go or just returning, and it would take a man with a blackboard to keep track. No sooner had Mary, Stretch and I returned than we had to unpack in a hurry so that the next-to-depart could use the luggage.

Markie came home and it was time to pack Johnny for his two weeks' stint at National Guard encampment at Virginia Beach. Then Pat went to the beach for a few days and the Head of the House was called out-of-town on business.

Next Merton Book Shown to Students... New York - (NC) - Students at Fordham University's second summer Institute of Professional Writing had a chance to examine an advance copy of Thomas Morton's 'The Waters of Siloe,' a history of the Trappists, to be published in September by Harcourt, Brace.

In the group were Miss Martha Hiley (left) of Bewickley, Pa., and Miss Mary Barbara Rain, of Oak Park, Ill., believed to be the first laywomen to receive a doctorate in religion from any school. Hazards In Mixed Marriage Confirmed by New Research

New Haven - (NC) - A mixed marriage is a hazardous undertaking, according to study published in the American Sociological Review. UN PURGE OF ANTI-RELIGIOUS NATIONS URGED

Portland, Ore. - (RNS) - Totalitarian countries guilty of attacking religious leaders should be purged from the United Nations, it was proposed in a resolution adopted here by the 67th annual convention of the Knights of Columbus.

ANOTHER RESOLUTION demanded the internationalization of Jerusalem, to assure "free access to the sacred shrines," while a third action urged "spirited criticism" of the misinterpretation of the so-called American principle of separation of Church and State.
