'Little Admirals' of Bullis Prep Seek Victory Over Unbeaten Aquinas Gridders

Aquinas Institute's "Little Admirals" griders, riding the crest of a four game win streak will face a heavier and more experienced eleven at 2 p.m. this Sunday in what may prove to be the toughest test of the season.
 Bullis Prep School whose "Little Admirals" are preparing to enter Annapolis Naval Academy is expected to be at full strength in its first appearance against Aquinas Coach "Mickey" Connolly's colorful squad, which may have to "take to the air" to hold its own.
 Bullis, which plays only prep and college football teams with the single exception of Aquinas, is located in Maryland in a suburb of Washington, D. C. Dressed in blue jerseys with gold numbers and gold pants and helmets, the "Little Admirals" will take the field as one of the best outfitted eleven to play in Aquinas' new Memorial Stadium.
 Last year the Bullis boys were the only team to beat St. Benedict's Prep School of New Jersey, while the best Aquinas squad could do was tie with the same St. Benedict team.
 To date the Marylanders coached by collegiate and professional Harry L. Deming, whose starting lineup averages 186 weight on the line and 170 in the backfield, boast the following record: Bullis 25, St. Mary's College Frosh 0, Bullis 13, Perkiomen Prep 0, Bullis 7, Longwood Prep 7, Bullis 7, Staunton Military Prep 14, Bullis 0, George Washington University Frosh 13.

CO-CAPTAIN FOR THE Aquinas griders Sunday will be Quarterback Jimmy Burns, whose field-generalship is causing increasing comment, and Left End Pete Blackwood, whose defensive tactics and pass-catch ing skill boosted him to a starting position and made him the almost unanimous choice as the "Outstanding Player of the Week."
 The Rev. Cyril Carter, C.S.B., Aquinas athletic director announced he has granted permission to a delegation of 100 Catholic Boy Scouts to take up a collection for local infantile paralysis activities. The Scouts, who will pass through the crowd between quarters, are from troops connected with the parishes of Holy Cross, St. Charles, Immaculate Conception, St. John the Evangelist, Our Lady of Good Counsel and St. Margaret Mary. Revealing consistent improvement, the Dewey Avenue lads made a race track of the Memorial turf last Sunday to blitz their traditional rivals, Catholic Central High of Detroit 40-13. It evened up the six game series. The crowd of 14,162 had scarcely settled in the stands when Pete Blocca blitzed into territory on the sixth play of the game. Twice later Blocca tipped the Detroit defense for

Newman Club Greet New Members at Initiation

The Newman Club of the University of Rochester and Eastman School of Music welcomed a large group of new members to its ranks in initiation rites held Sunday, Oct. 23 in Cutler Union auditorium.
 Key note of the program, conducted by the Rev. Donald M. Cleary and a team from the Cornell Newman Club, was the need of Catholic university students for continuing instruction in their faith.
 On the candle-lit stage members of the initiation team emphasized the spiritual as well as the fraternal benefits accruing from Newman Club membership. They recalled the inspiring biography of Cardinal Newman founder of the federation.
