Fawn's Fashion Flashes!!

AND RECOMMENDATIONS . . . TO ALERT SHOPPERS!

"That wouldn't it be much more fun, if people carried things upside down?"
At this time of year we are not quite that curious but haven't you found yourself looking for that "just right" gift for that certain someone? A gift that really goes with Christmas is a robe. We found a variety of styles to meet the needs of Tailored Toss or Frilly Flay. These are robes of flannel made with a long belt to hold it closed securely. Then we saw a rayon robe in a tiny check trimmed with a solid color. Braided rayon in black and white with velvet trim is called the "Tiger Lady". For the look straight from "Little Women" there is the delightful robe of 100% virgin wool flannel trimmed with quilted silk-wool taffeta on the reverse, cuffs and enormous buttons.

It's off to the ATLANTIC SUPPLY HOUSE, 380 Main St. E., for all these holiday provision needs. Handled fruits are always needed for your holiday baking and ATLANTIC has a big selection. If it's cranberry sauce you want you'll find it for 2 cans for 30c with fruit or the ruby clear jelly. To top off that perfect meal there are fresh roasted cashews for 97c a pound. Remember no matter what the recipe calls for in the line of spices, nuts, fruits and the like, the ATLANTIC SUPPLY has it.

Root vegetables, squash and sweet potatoes seem to belong to the holiday season. Squash of all varieties is a delicious yellow vegetable and what a beautiful harvest there is: butternut, Delicata or acorn, and our old friend, Hubbard—it seems only a few. Pork and turkey, roast duck and fricassee of chicken team up well with the vegetable.

The STUDIO GIFT SHOP, 761 Main St., W., for gifts that are different. Christmas is just around the next corner so why not stop by the STUDIO GIFT SHOP and order your personalized greeting cards now. They are priced from 25c cards for $1.50 up to $2.00 for $5.00. Choose those that best meet your needs. A complete selection of boxed and individual cards are available. And while you're there ask about that antique you haven't been able to find—the STUDIO GIFT SHOP may have it.

AT OUR HOUSE

By MARY TENLEY DALY

After a week in the Midwest, the Head of the House brought a friend home for dinner—a Mr. Steve Woods of Chicago.

This was going to be bad—very bad—for the Head of the House. He and all the Irishman's pride of family, combined with a vivid imagination. When he is away his family grows in goodness and grace and talents until their own Guardian Angels wouldn't recognize them.

And we were supposed to live up to this nostalgic picture he had painted—and hold the pose for at least four hours! Could we?

LUCKILY WE had a good dinner in honor of the homecoming—fried chicken and ice cream, all conducive to bringing out the best. After dinner Pat set up the coffee tray and went to the kitchen; Johnny took Ginny upstairs for the bedtime story, and the three middle children started the dishes. I had to take a quick sip of coffee, very hot, to be

Hold the Little Angels Until the Nice Man Goes

By MARY TENLEY DALY

"A lovely family," 557 Woods said "Now my three—well, seems they do an awful lot of quarrelling and it makes their mother nervous, and then I get nervous and we all argue. Guess you know how to bring 'em up right, Jack says."

"Well, Jack sometimes forgets the true picture. I began goodness knows tonight's sweet peas and light were almost too much to take in one dose. Johnny went into the kitchen. 'So that's where it is,' he boomed. 'You've got a heck of a nerve to take my best blue shirt!'"

"Turn up the volume," I mouthed wordlessly to the Head of the House. The symphony blared in a way Strauss never intended, and I stoic to the kitchen.

"LOOK AT HER," Johnny said "My best shirt and paint all over!"

"The RECORD player was going full blast as I joined the Head of the House and his guest. 'Sorry I have to catch that early train,' Mr. Woods was saying. 'I want Mrs. Woods to meet you and your lovely family,' he said over the roar. 'Good night!'"

After Mr. Woods left, the Head of the House came into the kitchen. "Something doing here?" he asked. "We heard talking and I had to drown it with music!"

The kitchen door opened a crack and Mr. Woods stuck his head in.

"Sorry, folks," he said, "but I forgot my brief case. Hang the front door bell but guess nobody heard it."

We retrieved the brief case and, as he left, Mr. Woods grinned.

"I sure do want Mrs. Woods to meet you. Our families have a lot in common!"

CROSS ON WORLD TOUR

The Cross of Jerusalem arrives in the capital of the United States on its world pilgrimage which began at Mount Calvary last Good Friday. Pictured at National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, on campus of Catholic University of America are the Rev. Thomas Bequet (left), Belgian Benedictine monk holding the Cross with Rev. Michael Ducey, O.S.B., on other side. Andrew Bels, a student at nearby Benedictine Priory School kneels before the Cross. Purpose of tour is to bring attention to the need for restoration of holy places in Jerusalem and peace in the world through "The Cross." (CNC Photos)

Washington (CNC) — Two American priests will probably immediately be followed by Father Fox's Mass. He related both had received permission from their ordinaries to offer Mass in the men over to have offered Mass aboard an airplane in flight.

This was related here by the Rev. Paschal Ireland, O.S.B. who claims to be the first priest ever to offer Mass aboard a plane in flight. The priest is attached to St. Meinrad's Abby, Ind. and is now engaged in post graduate studies of theology at the Catholic University of America here.

The other priest to offer Mass aboard a flying airplane is the Rev. Francis Fox, O.P., of New Orleans.

BOTH OFFERED Mass in the air while taking part in the national pilgrimage to Fatima last fall. The Masses were offered on October 9, 1948, at about 10,000 feet and shortly before the airplane starting the pilgrims was preparing to land in the Azores on its flight from New York.

Father Ireland stated that the best of his knowledge Mass had been offered in the air on only one occasion previous to his, but that was not in an airplane. The Mass was offered by the Rev. Fr. John J. O'Malley, O.S.A., aboard the dirigible Hindenburg on May 8, 1936. Another priest, Rev. Max M. M. M., is president for N.Y.C. News Service.

First Christopher Career Guidance School Launched

Providence, R.I. (CNS) — Nearly 100 persons attended the opening here of the Christopher Career Guidance School, first in a chain of 50 schools planned for major cities by The Christopher's.

Father Edward H. Flannery, director of the Providence school, told the first session that with serious and materialistic education the basic problems facing the nation and the world today, the school will seek to train for Christian action people who will place themselves strategically in the community where it will do the most good.

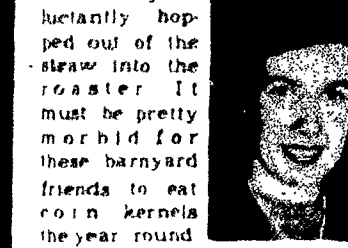

OVERALL AIM of the 50 schools is to attempt to counteract the influence of some 37 adult training centers operated by Communists in this country. The schools are the idea of the Rev. James Keller of New York. Many know him as the "missionary" who founded and directs The Christ-toppers.

Largest professional group attending the first school sessions were teachers. Among the others were social workers, nurses, secretaries, clerks, management and industrial workers, and several students.

Youth Parade Turkey Out of the Straw

By MARY SULLIVAN

It is a cruel, cruel world. Such was the song of America's finest feathered friend yesterday, when the honorable Mr. Turkey reluctantly hopped out of the straw into the roaster.

Mary Sullivan

It must be pretty morbid for these barnyard friends to eat each other in the year round. It is a cruel, cruel world. Such was the song of America's finest feathered friend yesterday, when the honorable Mr. Turkey reluctantly hopped out of the straw into the roaster.

But such is life and as their stuffed selves slipped resignedly into the cremator they flipped this one last bit of advice to us: be grateful that you aren't a turkey.

And, nobly as we tried not to be feebish about the delicability of our drumsticks as they enhanced a mound of squash we had to admit that we are pretty lucky to have been born without wings here, one place where they do have their drawbacks. In fact the more we stopped to think the more we realized just how much we do have to be thankful for.

THE WHOLE SECRET of the Thanksgiving spirit is in this "stopping to think." Sometimes in our mad whirl of fun football and food we forget where we got the footballs and food that make the fun.

Sure we all know it came from upstairs but that's the point. Since we do know we shouldn't turn mute except on the one day when everyone in the U. S. sends sincere "gratias" to God in mass.

One of the biggest things we have to be thankful for the year 'round, aside from our Faith, is that we live in a country that still clings to its national holiday of thanksgiving in God's honor. And we can be thankful all the time that we can be thankful.

Mexican Nuns Open Mission in Japan

Mexico City (RNS) — The first Mexican missionary expedition to Japan will leave here at the end of October when five members of the Eucharistic Missionary Sisters of the Most Holy Trinity sail for Tokyo.

Destination of the five nuns is Missonoski, Japan, where they intend to found a mission. The sisters have spent five years preparing themselves for the Japan mission, studying the language and customs of the people.

They will be followed by Father Fox's Mass. He related both had received permission from their ordinaries to offer Mass in the men over to have offered Mass aboard an airplane in flight.

This was related here by the Rev. Paschal Ireland, O.S.B. who claims to be the first priest ever to offer Mass aboard a plane in flight.
