Padua High of Watkins Glen in its court debut in Elmira gave St. Casimir's Juniors a hot contest, Sunday on St. Casimir's gym only to lose 34 to 27. An action scene under the basket shows both teams ready to grapple for the ball.

St. Casimir's Five Downs Padua High By 34 to 27

In a hotly contested basketball game last Sunday evening, St. Casimir's Juniors overcame a first quarter deficit of 7-5 to defeat Padua High of Watkins Glen by a final score of 34 to 27.

The game played in St. Casimir's gym was witnessed by a large crowd of partisan rooters. June Long for the winners played a brilliant game to out rival all contestants with 18 points to his credit. For the losers Spencer made a nice showing with a 12 point total. Following the game a buffet supper was served both squads by the Ladies of the Wanda Circle. The affair was sponsored by St. Casimir's Recreation Club. A return match will be played in Watkins Glen some time in February.

Elmira Man Named Editor At St. Bona

Appointment of two new editors of student publications at St. Bonaventure College was announced today (Friday, Jan. 20) by Fr. Sebastian McKenna O.F.M., director of publications. Jerome F. Hogan of Elmira was senior editor of the Journal, and has been named editor of the Bona Venture, college weekly. He replaces Sam D'Onofrio of Peekskill, who has completed his studies. John D. Burke of Staten Island, a senior majoring in English, has been appointed editor of The Laurel, literary magazine. He succeeds James F. Conolly of Rochester who has resigned. Both Hogan and Burke have gained honors for their work in journalism. While at Elmira Catholic High School, where he was senior class president, the new Bona Venture editor was winner of the Knights of Columbus Writing Award two years in succession. Burke who won the college's English Medal last year recently wrote a poem, "The Maelstrom" which was printed in the Annual Anthology of College Poetry. He is president of the Dramatic Club.
