Peppy Games Mark Opening Of School's Court League

Spirited play by the 20 teams in the Rochester Parochial School Basketball League marked the first two rounds of games last weekend as the league, sponsored by the Rochester Deanery Holy Name Union, was officially launched on its nine-week schedule.

While some teams won their games with ease (and by near astronomic figures) many other frays were close and undecided right down to the last minute.

Scoring disparities revealed the fact that some teams, especially those with home courts, have had the benefit of long and supervised practice, while others without courts have only been together for a relatively short time. Much of this differential is expected to level off as the season progresses.

Several of the games attracted spectators, many of whom expressed themselves as happy that the parochial schools now have a league. Results of the first two rounds:

Genevan Voices Thanks For Aid From French Post

Geneva — Genevans who happened to be listening to the WHAM sports program on Friday, Jan. 27, heard a broadcast from Bordeaux, France, that included the voice of a Genevan Vice-consul Thomas J. Jennings of Bordeaux. He expressed thanks to Bob Turner, sports announcer and to Rochesterians for 50 CARE packages sent to needy families.

A few weeks before Christmas Mr. Jennings had made an appeal through the sports announcer asking that the CARE packages be sent in memory of the famous French boxer Marcel Cerdan, who lost his life in a plane crash recently.

A recording of the reception of the gifts was made and rebroadcast Friday. Mr. Jennings opened the program by expressing thanks to the various Rochester civic organizations, clubs and sports promoters who contributed to the fund, as well as to schools from which contributions were received.

One of the Bordeaux recipients of a CARE package made a brief speech of thanks in his native language which was later translated. A young ten year old French boy, speaking in English which he learned especially for the occasion, told of his gratitude for the gifts.

Mr. Jennings, whose home is at 720 Washington St. is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Jennings.
