Rochester Student Plans New Boston College Paper

Kenneth J. Sleyman of Rochester (right) publications manager presents Peter P. George of Boston with certificate and engraved medal, first award made by the new Boston College publication "Posca." Award is for outstanding Catholic Action at the college. Sleyman planned the new publication.

A new publication named "Posca," issued by Boston College, the Blessed Virgin at Boston, has been conceived and planned by Kenneth J. Sleyman, a senior in the College of Arts and Sciences. The publication contains news and inspirational articles of a religious nature.

"Posca" which has been named for refreshments taken by an ancient Roman soldiers, is the official organ of the sodality of the Blessed Virgin at Boston College, one of the most active societies on the campus in promoting social causes of special concern to Catholics.

The publication contains news and inspirational articles of a religious nature.

'The Confession' Scheduled By Holy Redeemer Players

Approach of the Lenten season finds the Theatre Guild of Holy Redeemer Church making preparations for "The Confession" which they will produce on Feb. 17, 18 and 19.

Waford Smith, group director announces that William Andia will do the settings. Andia who has successfully designed scenery for the Pittsford Summer Theatre, St. Boniface Footlight Club and others will do five sets for "The Confession."

Scene is Broadway, premiere. "The Confession" has been hailed by Catholic groups all over the country. It deals with the dilemma of a young priest who must watch his innocent brother condemned to the electric chair because he cannot betray the seal of confession and reveal the culprit.

Alfred Hitchcock famed movie director has purchased the film rights to this play and recently announced production for next fall.
