300-Year-Record Of Nuns Extolled As Alumnae Meet

A record gathering of 610 alumnae of Nazareth Academy assembled in the school auditorium Monday evening, June 12, for the annual alumnae dinner. This year the Sisters of St. Joseph were their hostesses on the occasion of their three hundredth anniversary of the Order's foundation.

In the principal address of the evening His Excellency Bishop Kearney cited the growth that has taken place in the activity and widespread community service rendered by the Sisters of St. Joseph.

"It seems incredible," the Bishop said "that the present Nazareth Academy goes back three hundred years to a small group of young girls with a dream. The students and graduates of Nazareth have an intimate connection with those pioneers," he continued.

"EVERY PRIEST, every parish and every graduate of elementary and high school, conducted by the Sisters have a debt of gratitude to pay for the gifts so unselfishly given by these women," he added.

In conclusion the Bishop pointed out that the Sisters of St. Joseph who now teach in the schools, administer to the sick in the hospitals, and serve the community in their numerous ways deserve the unquestionable support of those who have reaped the fruits of their labors.
