Sport Leaders Talk To 500 At HNS Breakfast

Prominent local sports figures headed the list of guests at the second annual Fathers and Sons breakfast of the Holy Name Society of St. Stanislaus Church Sunday, June 18.

Principal speech was delivered by Johnny Keane, manager of the Rochester Red Wings baseball club. Other guests included Tom Pohlsky, Red Wing pitcher; Bob Davies and Arnie Ryan, stars of the Rochester Royals basketball team; Louis Hecklein, sports promoter; and Ross Virgo, former city lightweight boxer.

WELCOME TO THE APPROXIMATELY 500 PERSONS ATTENDING was extended by the Rt. Rev. Magr. Joseph A. Balcerak, pastor. The Rev. Henry F. Adamski, assistant pastor and Holy Name Society spiritual director, also spoke briefly. Toastmaster was Walter Czarniak, past president of the Society.

In a departure from custom, daughters as well as sons of fathers were invited to the breakfast. Also attending were Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts and Explorer Scouts of the parish.

Johnny Keane presented baseball, clubs and gloves as prizes to some of the boys. Serving the breakfast were members of a new group organized last year the Holy Name of Mary Society.

Brockport HN Men Hear Jerry Flynn
Brockport - Efforts of the Holy Name Society to bring closer association between fathers and sons by sponsoring Communion breakfasts and other activities drew praise from Jerry Flynn, a member of the staff of Rochester's Station WRNY, at the third annual breakfast of the Holy Name Society of the Church of the Nativity here.

Value of athletics and other recreation in preparing youth for future life also was stressed by Flynn, Notre Dame graduate and former public relations director for the U.S. Naval Academy athletic department.

Ninety Holy Name members and sons attended the breakfast, served in Bolger Hall, parish center, by the Catholic Daughters of America.

E. C. Cooney is the newly elected president of the Holy Name Society. Scheduled to take office with him in September are Ray Daly, vice-president; Francis Weich, treasurer; Peter Reganaka, secretary; and Francis Claffoy and Bernard Martin, delegates. The Rev. Michael J. Krieg, pastor, is spiritual director.
