Anti-Cummunist Calling Card

By MARY LENNON SNYDER

President, Diocesan Council of Catholic Women

In the newspaper world these summer days which we are now enjoying or enduring...

Naturally, better than being a Rosary carrying Catholic would be a Rosary saying and Rosary spreading one...

ALL OF us are familiar with the Family Rosary for Peace program over WSAJ each evening at 10 o'clock...

To us as Catholics there is, of course, no silly season. Our values are unchanging and, like mariners steering on a fixed course...

So it is with charity that we view some of the doings of our elected representatives. We refer specifically to the announced intention of a United States Senator to have printed for every American citizen a card stating that the wearer is not a member of the Communist Party.

THUS THE American citizen would be a "Card Carrying Non-Communist" instead of the widely publicized "Card Carrying Communist."

Either way by our support of prayers to Mary we would be helping bring the peace of Christ to this disturbed world...

Luncheon Cornucopias Luncheon cornucopias are making news. Combine cooked peas and diced carrots with sliced olives and moisten with mayonnaise...

"Daily Studio" a voice asks over the phone, "I want two extra prints of that dance shot your man took last Friday."

Sometimes it's different: "I ordered a picture of me and my girl at a dance. And what do I get for the mail? I get a picture of a bunch of little kids in a May procession! I paid my money and I want MY GIRL'S PICTURE! See?"

We like same and address and offer apologies and rectification.

Or: "Daily Magazine Agency? I'll take that two-year offer your agent told me about."

Again we take name and address and hope our subscriber will enjoy his two years of excellent reading matter.

DAYTIMES Johnny spends taking pictures with that news camera of his in the darkroom, growing pale and wan with that "darkroom pallor."

That's why our house is a combination magazine subscription-photo-graphic business. So-called "K" purely personal phone call come in -- to the resigned disgust of the girls.

It's almost like a soap opera: "Will Johnny make the grade?" We wonder and hope, as we match negatives and write up magazine orders!

Drama Precedes Arrival of Tuna Dishes at Dinner Table

Rev. Daniel O'Donoghue was recently appointed chaplain of the Port of San Diego. In this capacity Father O'Donoghue serves the "men who go down to the sea in ships" and their families who await them on land.

IT IS FATHER O'DONOGHUE who blesses the tuna fishermen as they shove off for a fishing trip and then waits with the women and children when storm clouds gather and the boats are cast about by the angry waves.

And when there are those becalmed by a mishap on the alt-bait Pacific Father O'Donoghue is there with words of consolation.

If an artist were asked to paint a picture of an ideal fisher, for beauty, for strength, and speed, the picture would probably resemble the great leaping tunny king of all ocean game.

This fish known more commonly as the tuna and also called the "great mackerel" and the "giant albacore" is the largest member of the mackerel family, and it has a record length of more than ten feet and a weight of 1,500 pounds.

The delicately flavored fish Americana relish in salads, croquettes, casseroles and endless other ways, is far superior in flavor to its smaller relatives the "albacore" and the "bonito" which are found in the Atlantic and Pacific and make excellent game fish.

In the United States over $8,000,000 worth of tuna is canned yearly.

Tuna fishing is the most exciting sport of the Pacific coast. Amateur fishermen put out to sea in powerful launches with trolling lines baited with a big flying fish, the favorite food of the tuna.

"SUDDENLY THE fish strikes like a living meteor," says a well-known writer on game fish. "A mass of white foam leaps upward. There is a blaze of silver, then a loud musical note rises on the air as the big reel gives tongue and the fight is on."

"The tuna turns and rushes seaward, tearing at the line, taking feet yards and has 500 feet of line perhaps before the boatman has his boat under sternway; and then begins the contest, ranging, according to individuals, from 10 minutes to fourteen hours."

All this precedes the appearance of a tuna dish on the family dinner table.

It's nutrition value is high and provides a wholesome food for every member of the family.
