Exhibit D

Exhibit D is a Sulner forgery (used at the trial and published in the Yellow Book). Exhibit E is the bad police forgery from which Sulner worked. The Sulner forgery was concocted to brand Cardinal Mindszenty as an enemy of the people who wanted all land reform to fall and estates restored to great landowners. The Cardinal's real criticism of the land-distribution program was that without financial aid the peasants would be unable to survive as independent landowners, and would have to join Soviet-style collective farms.

Would they please say just what was wanted? THE SMALLER one, who did most of the talking, said he thought I understood the position. They were instructed to ask two things of us. First, the 'Fischel laboratory's and also Hanna's official expert testimony that the documents on the desk were written by the Cardinal and the other defendants as indicated. Next, an expert analysis by Hanna of the Cardinal's handwriting, and this must be in line with the accusation that the Cardinal "is a criminal."

I took the first matter and said we could not do as asked. It was not because we did not wish to be cooperative. I emphasized, but these were only photographs. Without the originals we could not authenticate them for use as evidence in court. They said that the originals were too valuable to be carried about. They were locked up. I said that sooner or later they would have to be produced, because some of these documents they had brought along were so bad that they simply could not be used the prosecution or the court's president would throw

Scranton Bishop Deplores Frivolity In Nation's Crisis

Scranton, Pa. — (NC) — During the present crisis brought on by the Korean hostilities, all too many Americans are "adding as their lives reach the pagan philosophy of irresponsibility and sensual gratification. Eat, drink and be merry for tomorrow we die," Bishop William F. Haley of Scranton declared in pastoral letter issued here.

BISHOP HALEY said that Christ's words assure that His Church will not perish from the earth, but added "America as a nation is not immortal" and there is "no divine assurance that the America that has endured and grown physically strong through 175 years may not succumb to aesthetic communism's satanic technique of using treachery from within to insure slavery from without our borders."

Named To Veterans Administration Posts

Manchester, N. H. — (NC) — Patrick J. Ennis of this city, a graduate of Boston College's school of social work and formerly connected with the Catholic Charities Guidance Center in New York, has been appointed chief social worker of the Manchester regional office of the U. S. Veterans' Administration. He served in Europe as an Army lieutenant during World War II. It was also announced that Miss Anna M. Portka, who holds a degree in social work from the Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C., has been transferred from the Manchester VVA office to the post chief of the social service division at the new veterans' hospital here.

Lourdes Presented Cardiograph Machine

San Francisco — (NC) — Archbishop John J. Mitty of San Francisco has presented an electro-cardiograph machine to the medical bureau of the Shrine of Our Lady of Lourdes, according to word received here. The equipment is the gift of Catholic doctors and dentists of the San Francisco Bay area. In presenting the heart beat recording apparatus, the American Archbishop said that the Catholic physicians and dentists of the San Francisco Bay area were offering it "as a symbol of friendship and brotherhood between sons of Christ of the two countries."

Chapter VI
By Louise Sulner
On the stairs going down to the street from the police laboratory Hanna in a low voice told me what had happened. Two police officers, unknown to her, had called and demanded that the Fischer laboratory authenticate a number of Mindszenty documents which they had brought along in photostatic. She had told them that the laboratory had a basic rule not to judge a photostatic unless she made it or saw it made from the original, or could compare the original and the photostatic.
They had replied: "This has been discussed with your husband. You will cooperate or answer to headquarters."
She had said that this was something she did not understand, but that she would be back in two hours. Would they come back in four hours? We could, by then, she suggested, speak with higher quarters if there was a problem.
When HANNAID to impress them, they showed their order, signed by the AVH deputy chief Colonel Joseph Szabarsky, who had earlier and prior to the Cardinal's arrest (he had now been in the AVH jail ten days) demanded my co-operation in general terms. They said they would return at 3 o'clock.
So this was what Szabarsky had meant by: "You cooperate, or hang!" Events had moved too fast and overtaken us.
When the expected knock came, I opened the door. There were the two police officers. I asked them, in and led the way to Hanna's room in the laboratory. Hanna was waiting at her desk.
I invited the men to sit down on the far side of the desk facing Hanna. I asked her side, she asked to see documents. The other of the two men - we nev-

WHILE I WAS working on a called and was sent away. It took me about two hours to produce the finished piece of work. I checked it under the microscope and in enlargement thrown by the projector on a wall screen it satisfied me. I looked at Hanna. She shrugged and nodded. "It will do," she said. She disapproved of the whole business. "This writing I made from the AVH composed note was used in court and is published in the Hungarian Yellow Book as a note written by the Cardinal. The original forgery brought in us by the AVH men is Exhibit E. The forgery I made is Exhibit D. Both exhibits are from the photostats I made when the AVH men had gone to dinner and later had recorded by the micro-camera. The microfilm was smugled out of Hungary at the time of our escape by the agent of a Western power to whom we handed it in Budapest."
