

WHAT'S DOING AT THE DALYS'

Family Discussion of "Give-Ups"

By MARY TINLEY DALY

In past years nobody at our house has been required to fast during Lent, but this year would be different. Two more of us are over 21. Would our mental effort be "work" in the sense of exemptionability? I wondered.

At Sunday dinner the subject of Lent came up and usual neighbor boy named George just back from Korea and stationed in an Army hospital nearby. Several of us went to see him, taking a box of homemade cookies, a new book and a carton of cigarettes.

George, a file clerk, had been drafted some months ago and sent to Korea; suffered a severe spinal injury in combat and was evacuated to the States to recuperate. Don't know what we had expected, but it wasn't this blond cherub in a rigid coat from the land down. He talked and joked with us, saying very little about Korea.

They were both remembering last year when the solemn resolutions were written out at the height of Ash Wednesday play and everybody was required to stick to the written word, or look like it. After a week or two of Lent they saw they had gone over and had promised more than was humanly possible.

"We'll get into the groove when we get used to the idea," the head of the house said. Let's start now and look about it again on Shrove Tuesday.

"Talk went on to other things, including the loss of vixing a NEED HELP? Come to the Ne-von service of St. Anthony and St. John Theodora every Tuesday at 12:15 and 5:15. At Our Lady of Victory, Pleasant St.

TRANSFORMATION

Once there was a little church that stood upon a hill. Atop this church there were some Bells that rang out clear and shrill. On a frozen dawn in Winter they sounded clear and bright; They pealed sweet and melodious upon a Summer night.

AMONG WOMEN Lenten Projects Suggested

By MARY LENNON SNYDER

An excellent program for a Lenten meeting would include the use of the Christopher Records-Sex Education for Children. All who have heard these records are impressed by their presentation of the "how" of sex education by parents.

While it is wise to have organizations go on record as approving the suggestion and pledging that their members will stay away from pieces of business during the Three Hours, more weight is thought to be carried by individual letters and requests.
