iles of the Catholic University of Washington, D.C., will present Macheth to Rochester Shakepearen enthulasis, in the audiforfurn of Nazareth College, Tuesday, April 3, at 8:15 p.m.

The Players, as this group is known, average 27 years of age. They are all graduates of the Speach and Drama Department of the Catholic University of America.

When one considers that there are 500 job openings for actors on Broadway in 1950 with 10,000 applicants for the jobs, the disappointment and hearlache that follow are many to understand. However, 16 skilled and versatile actors with the vast American public before them led to the birth of Players, Inc. As early as 1941, Father Gilbert V. Hartke, O.P., head of the Speech and Drama department at the University conceived the idea of forming a traveling dramatic troups which would offer the academically-trained actor the opportunity of day-today, week-by-week, month-bymonth theatre work and experi-
