

Mission Bouts Slated April 13 At Arena Will Feature Gridiron Stars Of Aquinas

Seven championship bouts will feature the Aquinas Mission Bouts in the field at the Sports Arena on Friday, April 13. Ring activity is expected to start at 8:15 p.m. with Mike Scheraga handling the Mike and Abe Hart and Mike Conroy sharing third-man inhering duty. The judges will be Elmer Thoney and Frank Dugan.

Elimination bouts were fought in the Aquinas gym before Easter. More than 150 boys participated for eleven nights to determine the finalists in each weight. Only two defending champions remain from last year.

Footballer Bill Packerman will defend his heavyweight title against another grid star and newcomer to the bouts, Bob Hays in the Junior Lightweight. Frank Guell will defend his title against Tom Messner. One of the fights that is expected to show plenty of action has no defending champion.

The one everyone will be waiting for is the clash for the light-heavy title between Quarterback Jimmy Burns at 175-pounds and another footballer Bob Niermeyer at 178-pounds. Another big attraction of the evening will be the contest for the welterweight title between Joe Morke and Larry Corcoran, both former finalists but meeting for the first time in a championship.

According to the Rev. Arthur Looby, C.M.M., Moderator of the Aquinas Mission Bouts, the card this year contains some of the finest amateur fights ever to be presented in Rochester. Flyweight—Dik Glosner (107) vs. Pat Lavello (112). Bantamweight—John Cannon (118) vs. Bob Loblani. Featherweight—Bernie Corey (121) vs. Bob Hodges. Lightweights—Frank Guell (130) vs. Tom Messner (134). Welterweight—Joe Morke (150) vs. Larry Corcoran (154). Lightweight—Jack Strober (130) vs. Gary Dotzler (144). Middleweight—Tom Raas
