Freedom Crusade Rallies Pupils, Slates Parade

Catholic school children of the higher grades will join in the countywide Crusade for Freedom which opens in Rochester Saturday.

Sponsored by the Monroe County American Legion, the Crusade for Freedom will launch a campaign for $35,000 here to further the work of Radio Free Europe.

THE PARISH schools' partici-pation is through the coopera-tion of the Rev. Dr. Charles J. Mahoney, superintendent. Students in the 7th and 8th grade of the elementary schools and in high school will be asked to sign Youth Freedom scrolls acknowl-edging their support of the Crusade.

Lapel buttons signifying their en-linements will be supplied. Coin collectors will be placed in the schools for those who wish to contribute.

Highlighting the opening of the general campaign will be a colorful parade, a dramatic motorcade and ceremonies at city hall on Saturday morning. Polish, Lithuanian, Ukrainian and German groups from Roch-ester will march in native cos-tumes with special floats focus-ing attention on the effect of Radio Free Europe activities in the countries behind the Iron Curtain.

Army and navy units will partici-pate along with several bands and the American Legion honor guard and color guard.

Father Meade's Warning Opens Teachers Meeting

The more than 1,000 teachers gathered at the forty-seventh Annual Teachers Conference of the Diocese of Rochester at Aquinas Institute were called upon to thwart "a danger that can split the foundation of our civilization."

The speaker in the opening session on Thursday was the Very Rev. Francis L. Meade, C.M., president of Niagara University, Father Meade referring to the moral decadence in Amer-ica declared there "still stands one bulwark to challenge."

As an example of the danger, the University president cited the decision of Chief Justice Vinson of the United States Su-preme Court in which he said "Nothing is more certain in modern society than the prin-ciple that there are no abso-lutes."

"WE MUST remember that this is not merely the opinion of one man," said Father Meade. "It is the official and solemn thinking of the Supreme Court. It is a legal measuring rod by which we are supposed to live."

"Now let us take these words apart and see what they imply," Father Meade continued. "Of course we could point out that there are self-contradictory. Just as there is nothing so dogmatic as the denial of dogma, so when Mr. Justice Vinson denies abso-lutes he must at the same time set one up, that is, that there are no absolutes."

"But take the words at their face value. If there are no abso-lutes, there is no God Who is and must be the First and Necess-ary Absolute. If there is no God, there is no divine, no ce-lestial, no moral law. If there is no moral law then man has nothing left to guide and restrain him but the shifting, fallible, civil law. In a word, morality is identical with legal-ity."

"Is there any wonder, then, that our moral fabric as a na-tion is being ripped apart?" Father Meade asked.

Religious Instruction Classes For Public High School Pupils In the City of Rochester Will Begin Monday, September 24

He pointed out that there is no wonder that government favors can be bought and sold like commercial commodities and that so many professional people are "rotten to the core."

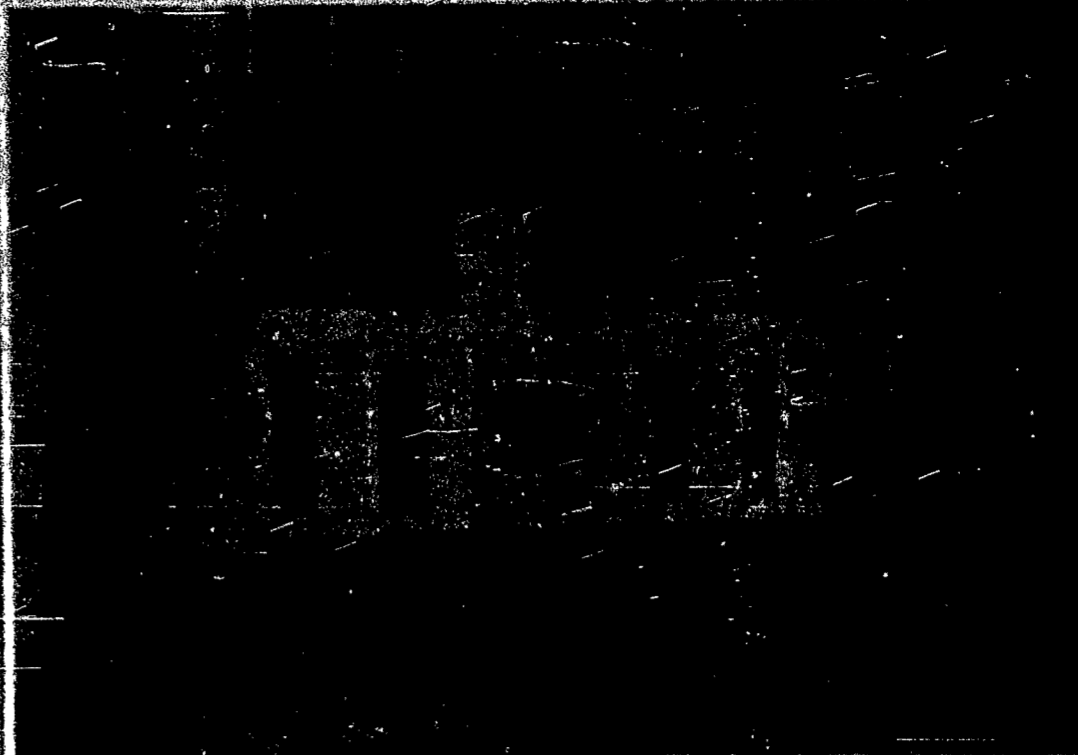

He cited the drift downward among many doctors willing to sell their medical science so long as they stay within the law and so many lawyers using their skill to circumvent rather than uphold the law. He asked busi-ness men who measure the weight of a contract by words of the document rather than the scales of justice.

THE SAME VIRUS may be found in the field of athletics and the speaker said the athletes who have bartered their honor and besmirched their schools are "but a small segment of a so-ciety that has learned to live without God in a world of legal-istic mores."

Quoting the Declaration of In-dependence, Father Meade said it is sunlight clear that the Founding Fathers believed abso-lutely in the existence of God, the First Absolute, and that this same God has given to His cre-atures certain absolute rights that no one, not even an all powerful government, can take from them.

New Altar Given Church By Holy Family Pastor

A beautiful marble altar, gift of the Rev. George J. Schmitt, pastor to Holy Family Church, in memory of his parents, the late John and Anna Schmitt was used for the first time Sunday in the parish church, Ames at Jay Street.

The altar costing $800, has a particular association for the Schmitt family as Mr. and Mrs. Schmitt were married in Holy Family Church and Father Schmitt was baptised there.

The new altar is made of im-portant Italian marble. The table, or mensa, as well as the altar front proper, is made of Bottic-ino, a cream colored marble with gold veining.

SUPPORTING THE mensa are four columns, setagonal in shape with carved capitals. In-aid in the center front panel is a Venetian mosaic with the emblem of the Holy Family in red and gold, surrounded by a border of other colored stones.

The back of the altar, called a tabernacle, on which the sacra-ments stand, is of Canino Rose marble, while the predella or base step platform is a deeper reddish brown marble in tone.

and here in the Diocese of Roch-ester, where he came on Nov. 11, 1937, Bishop Kearney has rec-orded extensive progress in Catholic education and in building church structures.

The Bishop has directed ex-pansion of Nazareth College for women on East Ave. He has wit-nessed under his guidance the opening of the modern and beautiful St. Andrew's Seminary on Buffalo Road and the addi-tion of St. James Mercy Hospital, Hornell. Three new churches, St. James and St. Cecilia, Brando-quill, and St. Rita's, West Wel-ster, have been finished as well as others remodelled and redeco-rated. Many schools have been erected and expanded in his al-most 14 years as Bishop of Roch-ester.

Warning Readers are advised that only books which bear the "Imprimatur" of a Bishop are officially approved Catholic books. Bookshelves were approached this week by publishers offering a host of allegedly "Catholic" literature. This book bears the imprimatur "Imprimatur" and, therefore, is not a Catholic book. It is not officially approved by any responsible official of the Church.

Dr. Connell To Talk To Lay Fraternity

First annual fall meeting of St. Andrew's Lay Fraternity will be held Monday evening, Sept. 24, at the St. William Hotel, 1120 Buffalo Road. President, Malcolm Humes, urges all mem-bers to come out for this fall's meeting which will include a series of stimulating discourses on practical Christianity by Rev. Dr. Raymond A. Connell, M.D., M.A.

There will be a short business meeting following discussion at 8:30 p.m.

College Opening Marks Bishop's Anniversary

His 43rd anniversary in the Holy Priesthood Wednes-day, Sept. 19, found His Excellency Bishop Kearney, edu-cator and builder, speaking to the first class in the newly opened St. John Fisher College for men located on Fairport Road near Rochester.

The Bishop was ordained Sept. 19, 1908 and celebrated his First Solemn Mass in St. Agnes Church, New York City, where he had made his First Holy Communion.

From his earliest days in the priesthood he has been an organizer and founder. He was the first pastor of St. Francis Xavier Church in New York City. Prior to ordination he had made distinguished courses in studies at Teachers College, St. Joseph Seminary, Dunwoodie; and after ordination at the Catholic University of America.
