talk by asking for prayers for "strength and courage" to carry on his duties. "Without God's help I can do nothing," he added.

Father McNamara and Father Lynch were presented with bouquets of red roses by Mary Kathleen McLaughlin and Mary Kathleen Sherman, first graders in St. Ann's School. The little girls, in white ruffled dresses, welcomed the priests to Hornell by reciting an original poem in unison.

Father Lynch said, "The spirit of cooperation between the priests of St. Ann's and St. Ignace Loyola Churches reflects the understanding and hospitality of the people of Hornell."

The girls' chorus sang parodies on "The Farmer in the Dell," "Camptown Races," "Sidewalks of New York," "Heigh Ho," "This is the Army," "The Soldiers," "Shortnin' Bread," and "Whiffen-pool Song." In the original lyrics, the girls paid tribute to the three honored priests and all the priests in the city.

entrance, after which he proceeded throughout the building, blessing each room. He later addressed the throng assembled in the school auditorium.

In his address, Bishop Kearney, who was presented by the Rev. Joseph Beatini, assistant pastor, stressed that no character building agency was comparable to that of a Catholic school. The Bishop congratulated Father Nacca on his zeal that sparked the campaign for the new school, and he lauded the people of the parish for their generosity in sacrificing much to realize the final completion of the school.

Following the addresses of the clergy, an entertainment by the school children was presented, after which refreshments were served. An opportunity was also offered for visiting class rooms.

The city officials present included Mayor Edward T. Boyle, City Manager George Train, City Clerk George Shannon, and Commissioner of parks Albert De Lorenzo.

The following clergy were present: The Rt. Rev. Magr. William E. Cowan, the Rev. John B. Crowley, the Rev. William Davis, the Rev. Kieran Hickey, O. Carm., the Rev. Joachim Snyder, O. Carm., the Rev. James Collins, the Rev. Basil Oates, the Rev. Irvin Sullivan, the Rev. Charles Drummond, and the Rev. Orrin Feller.

Hornell Area DCCW Meet To Plan Fall Program

Hornell — Representatives of Catholic women's organizations in Hornell and Dansville attended the 1951-52 opening meeting of Hornell District, DCCW, last week in the Pine Room of St. Ann's School.

Miss Josephine Fitzgerald was assistance of the laity in aiding the hierarchy to carry out the duties of the Church.

It is easy to understand, Father Coonan continued, "that the laity often has contacts which the clergy is unable to reach. The degree of generosity, charity and sympathy which the laity manifests toward his fellow man with love of God as the sublime motive determines the effectiveness of Catholic Action."

"We cannot give to others what we ourselves do not possess," Father Coonan said. "If we are to Christianize the world, in fulfillment of our goal, we must first of all be breathing examples of that way of life."

MISS FITZGERALD, Mrs. Raymond Curry and Mrs. Quartz reported on the Rochester Diocesan Council of Catholic Women workshop which was held in June in the Convent of Our Lady of the Cenacle Rochester. Copies of the report of the two-day session are being sent to affiliated organizations in Hornell and Rochester.

Mrs. Curry and Miss Mary Ludden were elected to the Board of Directors of the Diocesan Council. They, with the president, will represent the Hornell District at the annual Diocesan convention October 24 at the Hotel Seneca, Rochester.

Miss Fitzgerald announced that Hornell women have been invited to attend weekend retreats at the Convent of Our Lady of the Cenacle in Rochester.

Store Displays Handmade Dolls

As a feature of their 63rd Anniversary Celebration Sheehan's Inc., well known Elmira Department Store, is showing a window display of handmade, character dolls created by Mrs. Frederick Parkhurst of Bath, N. Y.

This unique collection of character dolls has been exhibited in many places, including the Rochester Museum of Arts and Sciences, and one of the dolls, received honorable mention at the 10th Annual Doll Show in New York in 1948.

Mrs. Parkhurst's dolls are said to be the essence of charm and originality. She has brought to her task delicate technical artistry coupled with wit and imagination. There are portrait dolls with elaborate costumes even to handembroidered slips, almost microscopic jewelry, miniature headed slippers, dolls that have stepped out of story books, theatrical personalities attired in the costume of the part that made them famous.

The clubwoman, the "old school marm," the village gossip are most realistically depicted to name but a few.

The exhibit will continue for the full length of the Anniversary Celebration.

2 Seneca Falls Men Enter State College

Seneca Falls — William T. Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hughes, Bridge St., left Monday for Utica, where he has begun a course in the study of textiles at the New York State College of Applied Arts and Sciences in that city. William graduated from Mynderse Academy with the class of 1950 and for the past year has been employed by the Geb & Garvan Yarn Co.

William Desmond, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Desmond of E. Bayard St., has entered the New York State College of Applied Arts and Sciences at Utica, for a course in electronics. William graduated from Mynderse Academy last June.
