Gen. Mark Clark Liberated Rome

IN HIS BOOK on the war, "Calculated Risk," General Clark tells that the late Maj. Walter S. Carroll, an American priest attached to the Papal Secretariate of State, had been "the Pope's liaison with the Fifth Army" during most of the campaign in Italy, and helped to work out many of these details in advance. He continued to serve in this capacity after the American troops had entered the Eternal City.

The Vatican and the Pope seem to have made a deep impression upon General Clark, to judge from his conversation with friends and his own words in his book on the war. He has expressed himself as being particularly impressed by the Holy Father's statesmanship, wisdom and "infinite humaneness."

GENERAL MARK Wayne Clark, an Episcopalian, at present commander of the U.S. Army Field Force, with headquarters at Fort Monroe, Va., was born at Madison Barracks, N. Y., May 1, 1896, the son of Col. Charles and Rebecca Clark. He was graduated from the United States Military Academy at West Point in 1917, and was wounded in World War I. He was one of the first officers to go to Europe following the entrance of the United States into World War II, and played a heroic part in the planning of the African invasion. Shortly before the invasion he self, he made a dramatic, dangerous and highly successful trip to French Africa by plane and submarine, to rendezvous with a group of French officers and work out details for the landings.

IN JANUARY, 1943, General Clark was named to command the Fifth Army, the first U.S. army active in the European Theater of Operations. In December, 1944, he was named commander of the 15th Army Group, comprising the U.S. Fifth Army and the British Eighth Army in June, 1945, he became the U.S. member of the Allied Commission for Austria. Since then he has held a number of diplomatic and military assignments, including participation in Council of Foreign Ministers meetings in London and Moscow.

General Clark married Marguerite Doran in 1924. They have two children: Patricia Ann and Capt. William Doran Clark, U.S.A., whose third Purple Heart decoration was awarded in Korea only a few days ago.

Christmas Poster Planned In Britain

London—(NC)—An anonymous group of Catholic laymen are now busily planning to put up 6,000 large posters on prominent signboards throughout Britain at Christmas to show the Nativity scene and emphasize the reason for the celebrations. They displayed 3,000 posters of the Crib last year.

The newly-appointed U. S. Ambassador to Vatican City State, General Mark W. Clark is shown above (right) with General Eisenhower and son upon the occasion of a Papal audience in September, 1946. Lower photo, he is shown shortly after he led the victorious American troops into the city of Rome, in 1944. With him is the late Monsignor Walter S. Carroll, of Pittsburgh, American priest attached to the Vatican Secretariate of State, who had many conferences and meetings with the General.

not confirm the Clark appointment, but warned that if it does his group "will investigate legal means for testing its constitutionality, with a view to an ultimate ruling by the Supreme Court." He said his organization may also go into court to demand that "the Roman Catholic hierarchy" in the United States be compelled to register as "foreign agents."

"If we are going to recognize the Vatican as a foreign power," he said, "for the purpose of sending an ambassador we should recognize it as a foreign power in all ways. It can't be a church one minute and a state the next."

THE REV. DR. JOSEPH M. Dawson, executive director of the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs, said state Baptist conventions will be held throughout the country in the next few weeks, and that they will be asked to adopt a resolution of protest. He reported receipt of a telephone call from a minister in Pittsburgh urging that petitions against the appointment be distributed at the door of every Protestant church in the country.

BISHOP HENRY KNOX Sherman, president of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the United States, expressed the hope and belief that this unwelcome proposal will be opposed by the great majority of fair-minded Americans of every religious conviction and will either be withdrawn or defeated in the Senate.

Mr. Archer of the POAU said that there were only 18 sure votes for confirmation of the nomination in the Senate, and there were 41 "reasonably sure" to vote against it.

Gospels Christian Family Basis, DCCW Group Told

Rev. Daniel V. Hogan, the Rev. Louis J. Hohman and Mrs. John J. Kennedy, chairman of Family and Parent Education, Hartford DCCW.

Mrs. Angelo Mastrella, Rochester Deaconery President, extended a welcome to guests and delegates at the luncheon. The day long sessions closed with a business session and election of officers.

Mrs. Frank G. Shaughnessy of Rochester, president for the last year, was re-elected. Named with her were the following: Miss Rita Trost, Rochester, recording secretary; Mrs. George Vogt, Rochester, treasurer; Miss Mary Ludden, Hornell, assistant treasurer; Mrs. J. John Lamphier, Rochester, auditor.

Appointment of the Rev. Kieran J. Hickey, O. Carm., professor at the Carmelite (Whitefriars) Monastery, Auburn, as spiritual director of the Auburn Deaconery Council of Catholic Women was announced.

In his address the Bishop cited the fact that the Holy Father had recently appealed to the Bishops to avail themselves of every opportunity to present the Rosary to the people as the solution to today's world problems.

Comparing the story of David and Goliath with the force of evil and the power of the Rosary, Bishop Kearney told the gathering the family especially needs the Rosary because "the ear of God is particularly sensitive to the prayers of Mary and meditation on the life of Christ."

"The greatest evil in our day is the loss of the sense of sin," His Excellency said.

FEATURE of the twentieth convention of DCCW was a panel discussion "The Christian Family" The Rev. John Coonan was chairman. Participating were the
