

St. Benedict Gridders To Face Aquinas In Expected Thriller

By ARTHUR P. FARREN

Friends of Aquinas football are in for a thriller during the remaining games of the Little Irish season. St. Benedict's Prep School will meet the Aquinas team on Saturday, Nov. 11, at 2 p.m. in the new gymnasium at St. Benedict's.

RETURN OF the Little Irish to the win column last Sunday, plus the news that backfielders Bobby Niermeyer and Sam Santora will be in the lineup again, brought a renewed "vic-tory" spirit to the squad and gives promise of an exciting game on Sunday. Given the "breaks," the underdog Aquinas squad could come up with a win in any case, it should prove to be a thrilling battle.

Until last Saturday, when the Newark prep school dropped a 29-0 decision to the Princeton Football team on a muddy field, St. Benedict's had not lost a game in 28 starts. They feature a stand-out line and a very fast backfield who have demonstrated that given an inch, they may take a mile.

For Aquinas, it will be a case of "giving their all" to bring glory to an otherwise mediocre season. To date the Little Irish have won 4 and lost 2—the first double defeat in six years.
