Catholic Church Is Divine, Fr. Keller Tells City Club

By ARTHUR P. FABREN

The divinity of Christ and His divine establishment of the Catholic Church were defended before 500 persons of the City Club of Rochester dinner last Saturday noon in the Chamber of Commerce building. Speaker was the Rev. James Keller, M.M., founder of the Christophers and one of the nation's best-selling authors, who forthrightly told his audience:

REV. JAMES KELLER, M.M., "the simple little catechist" for "what Catholics believe."

"If Christ isn't what He said, He was the greatest faker who ever lived. He is either true God, or a liar!"

Holding that Christ is truly God, the Maryknoll missionary summarized his belief by stating that Christ established the Catholic Church through His Apostles ("Thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build My church") gave a "program" to that Church—His grace through the Sacraments ("whatsoever you bind on earth shall be bound in heaven")—and promised to be with His Church "until the consummation of the world."

SPEAKING ON "What Catholics Believe," Father Keller said "God made me to know Him, to love Him and to serve Him in this world, that I might be happy with Him in eternity," and added, "I believe this so much that I am ready to die for my belief." He then referred his listeners to of the believer "to do something, even though it be just one little thing, to bring out God's image in others."

"Joe Stalin—I pray for him," the New York priest declared to illustrate his point.

Christ came to redeem all men. Father Keller noted, adding that "that is the purpose of the Church—to reach all men."

"EACH ONE of us," the Maryknoll maintained, "can do something big or little to help rectify the world situation. We must reach our love out as far as we can, to counteract the doctrine of hate that is threatening to engulf us."

That is one of the basic aims of the Christopher Movement, Father Keller said—"the individual's responsibility for the good of all." Christopher literature, he commented, now is being sent to a mailing list of more than a half million persons.

"People can change," declared the priest-author of "You Can Change the World,"—"just as St. Paul changed." Many of those who hate, he contended, can be brought to love through one little prayer or act.

Deplored the fact that "there are 800 million persons in the world who never heard of Christ, and 75 million persons in our nation who admit no church affiliation," Father Keller appealed particularly to Americans—"as America goes in the next three or four years, so may go the world"—to recall Christ's command to go teach all nations all things.

Father Keller said Catholics "are not really living our faith until we suffer for it" and referred to Christ's counsel, "Take up thy cross and follow Me." In the first three centuries of Christianity, the speaker reminded his listeners, 11 million persons died for their belief.

Everyone, the missionary asserted, "despite his denials believes in Death, Judgment, Heaven and Hell."

QUESTIONED by a person in the audience as to "why, if Christianity brings light into darkness, conditions are not better in Catholic Spain?" Father Keller first expressed the hope that his questioner would "read more than one version" of the Spanish situation.

The priest then stated that nothing governed by the hand of man is perfect and that the history of the Church shows it to have been "in poor condition" several times through the ages "due to human frailty." He then drew a parallel by indicating that the worth of the United States Constitution cannot be judged solely by the fact that last year 48,000,000 American citizens failed to vote.

The Church has weathered centuries of criticism, heresy, scandals, abuses and persecution, Father Keller added significantly.

REPLYING to other questions from listeners, the priest said that (1) Hell might be described in one sense as "separation from a lover," and that because of

KC To Raise Fund For Priesthood Education

The Bishop's fund for the education of future priests is the objective of the Columbian Guild organized for 1952 by the Knights of Columbus councils in the Diocese of Rochester, according to Raymond L. Nary, past, grand knight of Rochester Council and chairman of the Bishop's Fund.

The project is one of Central New York Chapter, K. of C. and Nary was appointed to direct the raising of the funds among the 14 councils in the diocesan area by Chairman Francis J. Welch of Canadawaga.

ENROLLMENT in the Columbian Guild with memberships at $100 each will be the purpose of the campaign. Men, women and children may join the Guild and it is not necessary to be a member of the Knights of Columbus or of its auxiliaries.

Proceeds will be turned over to His Excellency Bishop Kearney at a date to be set for the convenience of the Bishop. A similar purse was presented to Bishop Kearney last year.

Membership cards are being supplied to the K. of C. Councils in Rochester, Auburn, Canadawaga, Corning, Dansville, Elmira, Geneva, Henrieville, Ithaca, Newark, Seneca Falls, Waterloo, and Waverly.

Any number of memberships may be taken out by one person, and this will be encouraged, Chairman Nary said.

The project has the endorsement of the Bishop and of the Rev. Matthew A. Tobin, C.S.S.R., chaplain of the Central New York Chapter.

Ask God's Blessings On Eucharistic Congress

A prayer imploring God's blessings upon the International Eucharistic Congress to be held in Barcelona, Spain, May 27 to June 1 is being recited in all churches of the Barcelona diocese according to Francisco de Luis in the NCWC News Service.

Added to this prayer, which was written by Bishop Gregorio Modrego of Barcelona, is another recited by children in their catechism classes and in their homes. The general prayer expresses hope that "the Congress may be a high tribute to Christ in the Holy Eucharist and an effective prayer for peace."

All European nations, except those behind the Iron Curtain, have promised to send pilgrimages to the International Eucharistic Congress at Barcelona, Bishop Modrego of that See has announced in Madrid. Bishop Modrego is in Madrid to do preparatory work for the Congress.

THE CONGRESS, he said, has awakened great enthusiasm also in the United States and in the services of two transatlantic liners, the Constitution and the Independence, both of more than 30,000 tons, have been arranged. He said they will also serve as "hotels" for the pilgrims during the Congress. Ships from other countries are also expected to provide lodgings.

Although no pilgrimages will be forthcoming from the other side of the Iron Curtain, many prelates and faithful of those nations living in exile will be in Barcelona, Bishop Modrego added.

Lodgings are being prepared not only in Barcelona but in nearby cities. Camps for young people are also being considered. Transportation means are to be coordinated.

The ordination of a number of priests from Spanish dioceses and abroad will be one of the outstanding ceremonies of the Congress. Two ordained Negro priests will also attend.
