Says FDR Would Have Kept Taylor Vatican Post

Vatican City—(Radio NC)—Cardinal Spellman during a press conference at North American College attacked what he called a "sect" in the United States which apparently has only two objectives: to keep a United States representative from the Vatican and Catholic school children off school buses.

The Cardinal spoke as a strictly private citizen "without consultation with anyone." He recalled that during a 28,000 mile journey in thirty days he had seen an English language newspaper only once.

Revealing surprise that some Senators object to a United States representative to the Vatican, the Cardinal said that President Roosevelt had the intention of establishing an "office" of personal representative when he named Myron Taylor.

HE REFERRED to the absence of any Catholic objection when the United States named an envoy to Israel. He declared himself in agreement with President Truman who said there is no question here of a problem of separation of church and state.

Less than two months ago, delegates of eight organizations claiming to represent 12,000,000 Americans of Polish, Hungarian, Ukrainian, Estonian, Latvian, Lithuanian, Czech and Slovak descent or origin joined in a petition to the American delegation to cite to the UN meeting in Paris cases of genocide that have happened in lands of their ancestry.

Vatican Target Of Pilgrimage To Washington

Washington—(NC)—Despite the withdrawal by President Truman of the nomination of Gen. Mark W. Clark to be U. S. Ambassador to the Vatican, a Protestant pilgrimage will be staged in the nation's capital on Jan. 24 to protest against sending any envoy to the Vatican.

IN PUBLICLY material for the pilgrimage sent to Protestant ministers in all sections of the country, a resolution adopted by the American Council of Churches in Gary, Ind., last November was published. The resolution stated:

By dramatic coincidence the Cardinal saw a tired and haggard group of nine missionaries walk across the narrow bridge separating communist China from Hong Kong as he was taken to the border for "a look" into Red China.
