Milton Berle doesn't mind if Bishop Fulton J. Sheen edges him out of No. 1 position on TV. In a recent interview the TV star said that "if I'm going to be eased off the top by anyone, it's better that I lose to the one Bishop Sheen is speaking for." Harriet Van Horne, columnist in the World Telegram and Sun, wrote that Bishop Sheen who appears at 8 p. m. Tuesdays, "is the finest orator to come along since Peter the Hermit preached the First Crusade in 1095."

Paris Prelates Score Immoral Films' Effect

Paris —(NC)— Every Sunday large posters are placed at the doors of most French churches telling Catholics how the movies to be shown during the week at nearby theaters have been rated by the Catholic Critics' Committee, French counterpart of the Legion of Decency.

TWO PRELATES have recently called attention to these ratings and stressed their importance. Archbishop Maurice Feltin of Paris stated that Catholics are obliged in conscience to consult the ratings and to avoid immoral films. His Eminence Jules Cardinal Sallege, Archbishop of Toulouse, wrote in a pastoral:

"A film may be a work of art, of science, of morality. It may be a work of lies, ugliness and immorality. But its influence cannot be denied. It may be hidden, it may be profound. The images it presents are not lost, they are recorded, quickly filed away in the remote parts of the mind from which, at the least stimulus, the least suggestion, they are called forth and restored to life.

"IT IS, perhaps less seeing the films themselves than their return to our minds that is dangerous, that leads to unworthy and prolonged dreams. There are films which shock our sense of beauty, truth and morality. There are films which foster our nobler instincts, which arouse our appreciation of the human and the divine. They cannot be put on the same plane: the former are harmful and corrosive; the latter useful and stimulating to beneficial thoughts and emotions."

Priest Explains Discussion Club On Radio Sunday

The Rev. Albert H. Schnacky, director of the diocesan Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, will be interviewed on a radio program, "Religion in the News," at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, Mar. 8, over Rochester's Station WHEC. Father Schnacky will explain operation of the Lenten Discussion Clubs.

Infant Asylum Receives TV Set From Airmen

Manchester, N. H. —(NC)— A group of airmen from New York State, stationed at Grenier Air Force Base here for the past five months, decided to show their appreciation of the city's hospitality by presenting a 17-inch television set to some worthy institution.

Men in the unit contacted Mayor Josaphat T. Benoit, who suggested that the gift go to the Infant Asylum of Our Lady of Perpetual Help. A delegation from the 106th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron made the presentation at the asylum.

Markets, Laundromat Get Catholic Booklet Racks

Arcadia, Calif—(NC)—Racks with free Catholic literature have been placed in two supermarkets and a laundromat here by the Legion of Mary of Holy Angels parish. Housewives often take home booklets on Christian marriage, the moral law and immortality of the soul along with their groceries or the family wash.

This "marketplace apostolate" was begun last April. Since then more than 2,000 pieces of literature have been taken from the racks.

Cost of keeping up a stock of literature is high, and some persons have tried to sabotage the project by regularly emptying the racks, which are plainly marked "Please Take One." At one supermarket a rack disappeared along with its contents. However, the work goes on uninterrupted, and it is planned to install a rack in the Arcadia public library soon.

Canadian Radio Quiz Show Cited As TV 'Natural'

Montreal — (NC) — A radio quiz program in which six Catholic school children throw unrehearsed questions at a priest has just completed its 400th broadcast on a Southern Ontario network and is being boosted as "a natural" for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation television service.

The half hour program emanates from London, Ont. and is carried to stations in Windsor, Hamilton and Toronto. It is within range of hundreds of thousands of homes in Southern Ontario, Michigan and New York.

Each program of the "School of Christ" starts with one or two of the children reading passages from the Bible pertaining to the topic of the day. Then the questions fly, and the Rev. W. T. Flannery has a busy time of it.

The children taking part are selected each year from about 40 recommended by teachers from grades six or seven in the Separate (Catholic) Schools. From that number three boys and three girls are chosen. They are bright, eager to learn, self confident and have good radio voices.

Two girls' choirs alternate with the program. The junior choir of 50 voices is chosen from the city's elementary schools. The senior choir of 40 voices was described by a Windsor radio official as "the best consistently, among the station's programs."

Sodality Union Offers Film

Entitled "The Perpetual Sacrifice," the movie is being sponsored by the Rochester Sodality Union.

Rental rates are $15 per day or $25 for two days. During Holy week, $20 per day.

Anyone interested in obtaining the film may write the Rochester Sodality Union at 720 Main St. West, Rochester, or call GEnesee 0082.

'Singing Blade' Set In Eastman Concert

The "Singing Blade," a unique instrument produced by a Rochester businessman after several years of extensive experimentation, will be performed in a gala St. Patrick's Eve "pop" concert scheduled for Sunday evening, March 16, in Eastman Theater.

Edward J. Doyle, prominent business man, whose musical hobbies led to the invention of the new instrument, will be featured with the Rochester Civic Orchestra, Paul White conducting. Sharing the spotlight will be Harry Watts, pianist, and Giles Hobin, tenor.

Doyle will be heard in Kreisler's "The Old Refrain" and MacDowell's "To a Wild Rose," accompanied by Watts at the piano. They will be joined by Hobin for a melody of George M. Cohan songs. Hobin will also sing "Macushla," "Rose of Tralee" and "The Shamrock," an Irish song composed by Ed. Doyle (who is a pianist, accordionist, vibraharpist and organist, as well as inventor and composer).

For the orchestra, Paul White has programmed Irish Rhapsody, Hurry the Jug, In the Antrim Hills, Irish Washerwoman, Selections from "Eileen" and "Finian's Rainbow," and Notre Dame Victory March.

Color Film Depicts Life Of Seminarian

Washington, D. C. — (NC) — A new 16-millimeter color film describing the life of a seminarian from the time he enters the novitiate until he is ordained has been released here by the Holy Ghost Fathers. The movie is in sound and color and has a running time of 22 minutes.

Entitled, "Now the Priesthood," the film portrays the everyday life of the seminary as well as the rich color of the ceremonies of tonsure and ordination to minor and major orders.

Chorals are by the schola of St. Mary's Seminary, Norwalk, and the narration by Peter Fernandez.

Oratorio Group Slates Concert

The Rochester Oratorio Society has chosen Joseph Hayden's masterpiece, "The Creation," for their seventh annual spring performance Friday, Mar. 26, at the Eastman Theater.

The 250 voices will be accompanied by a 39-piece symphony orchestra under the direction of J. Theodore Hollenbach.

Soprano soloist will be Dolores Harvie, well-known soloist in Rochester churches and for her many appearances on WHAM-TV.

Giles Hoban will be tenor soloist. His many performances at the Eastman Theater, in local churches, on WHAM-TV and recently-made recordings have made Mr. Hoban well known in Rochester music circles.

Herbert Beattie, whose experience includes recitals, oratorios and musical comedies in the leading cities of the nation, will be bass soloist.

Most Sees Adopt New Lenten Rules

(N.C.W.C. News Service)

All or nearly all U. S. archdioceses and dioceses have adopted recommended regulations for fast and abstinence approved at the annual meeting of the Bishops last November, a survey of Lenten regulations published in diocesan newspapers indicate.

A special committee of Bishops drew up the regulations in the nature of suggestions, leaving the decision as to whether they would be adopted in a particular See to the discretion of the respective Ordinary.

An interesting sidelight on the widespread adoption is that a number of Canadian Ordinaries have drawn heavily on these recommended regulations in outlining Lenten rules for their areas.
