Saturday Club Speaker Gives Formula For Peace

Auburn — "The lesson of Passiontide, as reiterated by the twice-celebrated Feast of Our Lady of the Seven Sorrows, is that true peace can be achieved only in our individual possession of Christ and in Christ's possession of us" was the thesis developed by the Rev. E. Leo McManmus in his talk before the April First Saturday Luncheon Club of the Auburn Deanery.

The luncheon, held at the Osborne Hotel, was attended by approximately 150 women from Auburn and vicinity.

The speaker, a former assistant pastor of St. Mary's Church, Auburn, and moderator of Auburn Deanery Council, Diocesan Council of Catholic Women, was presented by the present moderator, Rev. Kieran J. Hickey, O.Carm.

Father McManmus said in part, "Despite the earnest promulgations of those who would strive to build peace upon the rotting carcass of a civilization that is so grotesquely decivilized, we know that we must first accept Christ within ourselves and achieve a culture which is based upon a cult."

"We must suffer with Christ as Christ continues His Passion in the world today, and our sole fear must be the loss of Him.

"CHRIST SUFFERS today in the harsh warnings and the threats of a hostile world that hates Him. He flees in His persecuted followers who yearn for freedom from oppression. He is lost in the crowds that have time only for giddy pleasures that are bought with coin, sweat and flesh. He carries His Cross again in those who bear the weight of indignities and injustices. In a daily, hourly renewal of Calvary our egoism crucifies Him."

Mrs. Harry M. Dillon presided at the luncheon and gave a short review of the work done during the past eight months by the Auburn Deanery Council.

Beside the chairman and the priests others at the speakers' table included: Mrs. Edward McMannus of Rochester, mother of the speaker, Mrs. C. Eugene Carpenter, Miss Mary F. Dunn, Mrs. Fred L. Armstrong, Mrs. Philip A. O'Connell, Mrs. Frank L. Doyle, Mrs. Clarence E. Hayden, and Miss Betty Post.

Nurses' Stations Installed On Mercy Hospital Floors

Auburn — A recent improvement and innovation at Mercy Hospital, Auburn is the glass enclosed Nurses' Stations on each of the hospital's floors.

These stations, popularly known as chart rooms were formerly located in a open bay in the hospital corridor where the usual coming and going of a hospital staff and its visitors made concentration difficult for doctors and nurses working on patients' records.

THE NEW stations are now completely cut off from the hospital corridor and so insure greater quiet for the staff for record work and for conferences with supervisory personnel and doctors.

The work in converting to the new type nurses stations was done by the custodial staff of the hospital which is operated by the Sisters of the Third Order of St. Francis with Sister Mary Aurelia as administrator. The hospital is a member of the Community Chest of Auburn and Cayuga County.
