

Catholic Girl Wins Talent Award, Paramount Film Try

Lu Ann Simms burst into tears when she won the Arthur Godfrey Talent Scouts program Monday night.

The 19-year-old Rochesterian sang her way to possible fame on the coast-to-coast radio and television network.

As a result, Lu Ann had an appointment for a screen Lu Ann Simms test with Paramount pictures Wednesday morning and an interview with MGM Records to say nothing of four calls from agencies and three calls from night clubs.

THE SHOW, broadcast from New York, was carried locally over Station WHEC and the television version, delayed, will appear on WHEM-TV at 8 p.m. Sunday.

As part of her award Lu Ann sang each morning this week on Godfrey's daytime radio program, and Columbia Pictures gave her a script and asked her to report back to them this morning (Friday).

Godfrey praised Lu Ann for her "humility" when she cried with joy at her good fortune.

A GRADUATE of St. Peter and Paul School, the young singer attended Our Lady of Mercy High School and after winning a Horace Heidt audition went on the road with his company and completed her education with tutors.

Lu Ann's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aldridge A. Ciminnelli, and her brother, Donald, were in the audience Monday night.

Treat Promised In HR Minstrel

Holy Redeemer auditoriums will ring to the echo of a real Minstrel Show May 9, 10, and 11, for the first time in 40 years.

The combined organizations of the parish will present "The Jubilee Minstrel," a fast moving show which boasts all the excitement of the old southern minstrels.

Complete with interlocutor, end men, singing and dancing choruses, barber shop harmony, ballads and olio numbers, "The Jubilee Minstrel" will rekindle a sentimental spark in the hearts of all those who sadly miss the music of "the good old days."

Drawing upon the church choir, youth organization, Rotary sodality, Holy Name Union, Athletic Association and Theatre Guild, "The Jubilee Minstrel" promises to be one of the most enjoyable productions ever staged at Holy Redeemer.

Rehearse For Catholic Music Festival

These nurses will sing with one hundred twenty others in St. Mary's Hospital Glee Club at the Catholic Schools Music Festival on May 14. The festival is being sponsored by Bishop Kearney and is under the direction of the Rev. Charles J. Mahoney, Superintendent of Schools. Reading left to right: Suzanne Wilg, director; Anne D'Ghirolamo, Joan Blake, Dorothy Murphy and Patricia Linehan.

Flashback Follies Set For Run At Holy Family Parish

Holy Family Theater will raise the curtain on its new musical "Flashback Follies" May 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, at 8:15 p.m. with a matinee on Sunday, May 4, for school children.

Heading the list of principals are Winifred McLaughlin, Tommy Russell, Clarence Dentinger, Bryan Wittman, Lawrence Hursh, Joan Root, Thomas Nihil, John Bryson, Rita Tota, Mary Rose Miller, Edward Schreiner, Francis Capone, Patricia Miller, Marilyn Maltz, Thomas O'Neill, Ella Russell, Helen Schramel, and Joseph O'Connor.

A chorus of 35 boys and girls do novelty dancing taught them by Lois Kuehman, and blend their voices for group singing under the direction of Helen Schrammel. Costumes are being executed by Martha Schur assisted by ten other volunteers.

FOR THE FIRST time in its four years of musicals, the Holy Family Theater will have on its stage the Parish Choir to display their talent along with all the other "local" abilities employed in the production and staging of this parish presentation.

Doris Britt, outstanding young majorette of Monroe County, will be one of the professionals and will do in addition to several baton twirls, a special "fire twirler," a real thriller.

VIOLET Gleichauf, coloratura soprano, will sing numbers; and Bernadette and Robert Mason, Patrick Reddy, Marie Vigliotti and Lorraine Johnson will dance. Dorothy Uhl and Marilyn

Look and Listen

By FAWN SCHEFFEL

Viewers in and around Rochester may be seeing Bishop Fulton J. Sheen's program "Life Is Worth Living" if things go as scheduled. We hear that the program planning department of WHEAM-TV is negotiating to get the program as a regular feature.

Switching from their usual slapstick, Abbott and Costello make pleasant nonsense of the classic fairy tale in the film version of "Jack and the Beanstalk." The fairland coloring, singing, dancing, and general gaiety promise a maximum of juvenile fun. (BEO Palace (Rochester).

Secular press applauded two Catholic actors this week for their parts in the Community Playhouse presentation of "The Curious Savage" which opened a two-week run Saturday evening at the Clinton Ave. South theater. Robert Smett was acclaimed "Uptop" in his portrayal of Jeffrey and Arnold Morrison's Hannibal was termed "excellent." Bob, besides being active with the Pittsford Summer Theater, the Holy Redeemer Theater Guild, and the St. Boniface Footlights Club has appeared in the Holy Name Union plays "City of Kings" and "The Dark Hours." A member of the Catholic Theater of Rochester, Bob recently authored "Appointment at High Noon," current offering of that group. Morrison, a former member of the Blackfriars' Guild, worked in legitimate stock and with Leonard Alto Bell.

The Rev. Paul E. Talle, chaplain of the Cenacle Retreat House, will appear on the TV feature, "Thought for Today" Tuesday, April 29, and the Rev. Charles A. Bennett, of St. Patrick's Church, Rochester, will appear Friday, May 2.

A parishioner of Holy Family Church, Rochester, has scored on television, Ralph Keyes, who is currently studying for his master's degree in radio and television at Syracuse University has directed several shows for WRSX-TV, Syracuse. He even wrote one of the scripts. At present the young man is spending his spring vacation with his mother, Mrs. Anna Keyes, 101 Holworthy St.

Speaking of Holy Family Church, Rochester, we have learned the parish theater's new musical "Flashback Follies" is ready to ring up the curtain May 5. Winifred McLaughlin former winner of Station WHEC's Young Stars of Tomorrow program will be cast in a leading role.
