The Rev. Louis A. Galea of the Catholic Radio and Television Guild (147 E. Fifth St., St. Paul 1, Minn.) writes that a film studio in Mexico is anxious to produce a series of Catholic films for television. Father Galea will be glad to make arrangements for the purchase of suitable treatments for shooting scripts. Lives of the Saints are not wanted, but rather historical material dealing with the teachings of the Church.

The second and final installment of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," starring Edmund Valentine, will be shown at the Dryden Theater of George Eastman House Saturday, May 2, at 1:30 p. m. and Sunday, May 3, at 2:30 and 4 p. m.

Speaker for the month of May on the Christless in Action program head over Station WARC, Rochester, will be Father John Kennedy, whose column, "Balancing the Books," appears in the Courier-Journal. Father Kennedy will talk on "The Old Neighborhood" this Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

The Catholic Institute of the Press will present its fourth annual award to Leo McCarey, movie producer and director.

Aquinas Cast To Ring Up Curtain

A cast of Aquinas Seniors supported by Mercy girls, Julie and Mary Jo Langie, the Spotlight Club offers its third and final play of the season, "See How They Run" May 4 and 5. "See How They Run" outstanding hit comedy of the London stage has had tremendous success in America.

LEAD comic parts are handled by Jim Wohlhab and Mary Jo Langie. Joan Gordon who had the lead role in "Ramsack Inn" of last season scores as Miss Skilton outraged parishioner of Rev. Lionel Toop, portrayed by Don Bill.

Jerry Grazi introduces the element of intrigue as the Russian who is subsequently captured by Jack Connors in his role of the Cockney police sergeant.

BOB DAVIS, Julie Langie and Dave MacDonald only succeed in confusing the issue as the action of the play reaches a climax amid the ringing of church bells and wild cries of "the revolution" from the Russian spy.
