K is for Knowing...

Knowing that the Community Chest is ready! Yes, ready with friendly and able hands to help those who need aid over some of life's rough spots.

Perhaps they're youngsters with crippled legs, or oldsters without a home. Maybe they're folks who are sick, or who have just had more than their share of tough luck.

The Community Chest is ready to help all.

Some of the men and women of Kodak have noted here a few of the ways in which, they know, the Chest saves.

Let's give it our heart-felt support!

Knowing that an underprivileged child can have the same opportunities to enjoy life outdoors, the sunshine, and the companionship of other children is reward enough for Mrs. Joan S. Kadiwaki, Kodak Office

Knowing that the dollars we contribute may help some child to walk again, or keep a family together when misfortune has struck, is a good feeling. Cornelia Muller, Kodak Park

Helping someone in the fall of life gain new friends and new interests that will help keep happiness alive for them is only one of the Chest's services. But it's a sample of the good one's that can do. Alfred Condorelli, Kodak

Caring for those who are less fortunate than ourselves is a community obligation. We can help meet it through our Chest gifts. They go a long way and are a real investment in our community. Frederick Redjokas, Camera Works

Disaster is not a pleasant word, and whatever we can do to keep it out of the lives of those around us helps make our own lives better and happier. Richard T. Sullivan, Distillation Products Industries
