Assisting Father O'Donnell in the program were Ruth Anne Flaherty and Bob Walters as the couple, Don Ewing as the father and William Flaherty as the parish priest, all members of Player, Inc.

Irish Films Set For 1-Day Stand at Strand

Three films directly from Ireland will be presented for a one-day stand at the Strand Theater, Rochester, Saturday, June 21. One, "Irish Hearts" is a full-length drama produced in Dublin, and stars Bernard Lee, Richard Aherne and Robert Dawson.

The program of baptism involved the story of an Army private unable to get a pass to go home and act as godfather to his brother's new born son. The young soldier not only became godfather by proxy but also the godfather of an infant he met only a few minutes before baptism as the result of a talk with his chaplain. The Players, Inc. members of the cast included Clyde Norton, William Callahan and William T. Daley.

Mission For Colored 'Strikes It Rich' TV Star Acts As Proxy For Priest

New York (NC)—A well-known TV star served as proxy for a priest and helped to "strike it rich" for a struggling Catholic mission in South Carolina.

The story began when Walt Frumer, producer of the CBS-TV and radio program, "Strike It Rich," received a letter from the Rev. A. G. McCabe, O.P., of Blessed Martin de Porres Mission in Columbia.

Among underprivileged Negroes in the Charleston diocese, said Frumer, "many have begged me to write to you and try to 'Strike It Rich.' He went on: 'Please understand that it is not for myself, for I have long ago taken a vow of poverty. It is for the 125 children whom we teach, feed and clothe here and for the many, many poor who come to us constantly for help.'

Declaring that one special need of the mission was to pay for equipment ordered for its cafeteria, Frumer immediately telephoned Frumer, who wrote:

Belgian Monarch. Antwerp, Belgium (NC)—King Baudouin of the Belgians was welcomed here by His Eminence Joseph Cardinal Van Riebeeck, Archbishop of Malines and Primate of Belgium.

of the CBS-TV show, "Strike It Rich," volunteered to serve as a proxy contestant for the priest.

As a "helping hand" guest, Frumer offered $500 for the mission by answering a series of questions correctly. But that wasn't the end. The CBS phone began to ring.

First call was from Allan Saunders, a disk jockey of Newark, N. J., who offered to furnish his talent free for one day. Next came Marie Estrada, of the Bronx, who added $5 to the windfall. The Winchester Gram Agency of Columbia, S. C., donated $100.

Happening to "watch" the telecast was Harry Gold, president of the Lane Silver Company, New York, who offered to supply all the silverware Father McCabe needed for his cafeteria. Said Mr. Gold: "Although I do not happen to be of the same Faith as Father McCabe, I admire his fine work."

Look and Listen

By FAWN SCHEFFEL

This Sunday marks the last broadcast of the current series of the Courier-Journal sponsored program, "Morals Behind the Headlines," heard weekly over Rochester's Station WHAM at 12:10 p. m. Father Richard Torney, who represents the editors of the Courier-Journal on the newscast will bring to a close five years of commentary on the Catholic viewpoint of the news.

During the summer a program of light recorded music will replace the usual news analysis. The "Morals Behind the Headlines" program will be resumed in early September.

Marie Goretti, Child Martyr, whose canonization took place during the Holy Year 1952, will be the subject of discussion in the Catholic Hour address of Father Joseph Maxton, a Regent assigned to Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church, Boston (Station WHAM, Rochester, 2 p. m.)

A YOUNG MAN WITH A FUTURE - A young man of Shawnee, Kansas, deeply impressed by the NCCM 1952 television program dealing with the Sacrament of Matrimony, write in for a copy of the script. Glenn Hipple reminded the NCCM that it offered to send copies free of charge and concluded his letter: "I am only 11 years old, but it may be of good use to me in the future." A copy was forwarded to him. (Sunday, WHAM-TV, 1 p. m.)

Father Urban Nagle's Uncle George and Uncle Malachy will "argue" about Original Sin Sunday, at 1 p. m. over Station WARC, Rochester.

A priest getting away from parishioners and a crook getting away from the police provide a good beginning to a tale that develops into a worthwhile film playing at the Loew's Rochester Theater, "When in Rome," as a second feature to the A-2 offering, "The Young Man With Ideas."

"Lydia Bailey," on the other hand, may tend to create among some people, an impression of deliberate and uncomplimentary comparisons between non-Catholic and Christian rites. The feature opened Friday at the Paramount Theater, Rochester.

We regret to report that the Corning Theater submitted a schedule predominantly classified "C" (completely objectionable). Among the nice offerings for the summer season only "Ramshackle Inn," starring ZaZu Pitts, merits an A-1 rating.

At a brief ceremony in the Backus expressed the hope that the sets would assist veterans, and other patients, on their road to recovery by making their days a bit more cheerful.

The mayor expressed his deep appreciation on behalf of the patients.

Also present at the ceremony were representatives of the Posts of New York County, whose contributions purchased the sets. Father Duffy Post No. 54, which in January donated a television set to one of the hospital's wards, was represented by Commander Charles F. Heeram, and a number of its officers and members.

Index Of Art Presented To Vatican Library

Vatican City (NC)—An event of outstanding importance in the world of art and learning took place here when the Vatican Library was presented with a complete copy of the Princeton Index of Christian Art.

The presentation was made by His Eminence Francis Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York, at a formal ceremony attended by three other Cardinals, several Bishops, officials of the Vatican Library, representatives of the diplomatic corps, and scholars and officials of various Italian and foreign academies and institutes.

Consisting of nearly 100,000 photographic and 500,000 catalogue cards, the index was compiled over a period of 34 years by the Department of Art and Archeology of Princeton University, Princeton, N. J. Covering Christian art before 1600 A.D., the original index cost $200,000.

The copy given to the Vatican Library was made possible by a gift of $50,000 from a friend of Cardinal Spellman.

"We believe that this Vatican copy of the Princeton Index," Cardinal Spellman said, "will do much to facilitate study of the work of the Holy Spirit, enabling students in every country better to investigate and appreciate the monuments of Christianity."
