WHAT'S DOING AT THE DALYS'

'Lady Day in Harvest'

By Mary Tinsley Daily

When the Feast of the Assumption comes on August 15 — the first mid-week Holy Day since Ascension Day in May — it has a peculiar effect on our house.
Here is the summer practically over, and how we've slumped!

Only occasionally do some of us get up for daily Mass. Our family rosary has fallen off too often, for one reason (i.e., excuse) or another. Even Sunday Mass, distressed as much of it is, is not as carefully followed as in the more devotional days of the other seasons. Even though we go to "the eight" the church is not the whirling dervish of a too-late bedtime, and the pews crowded.

And there's always that fly!
Then comes "Lady Day in Harvest" — that feast commemorating the final triumph of Our Lady in many countries celebrated by elaborate processions and in our own country by asking Our Lady's blessing on the harvest.

THOUGH "the harvest" at our house consists of only a few sickly, undersized tomatoes, the day does bring us to the realization that it's time to get back to a more alert way of life, spiritually and every other way.

So we put on Sunday clothes in mid-week — those summer dresses that looked so perky and fresh in June and by now have become so weary. Straw hats are battered and sunburned, their flowers wilted and bedraggled. Dresses are faded and limp.
And even careful whitening can't cover up the stuff marks on the white shoes. It's end-of-season.

In another way, it's beginning of season — a red letter day established for us, quite by chance, as family tradition some years ago.

CAME THE EVENING of August 14 and the street truckster announced the bargain of the year, two bushels of peaches and two of tomatoes at a phenomenally low price. We took two of each, planning to spend the entire following day in the canning department.

"But tomorrow's a Holy Day," the Head of the House reminded us.
Shocked, we gazed at the four bushel baskets on the kitchen floor.

"But we can't let 'em go to waste," was our protest. "Get the Blessed Mother would have canned them."

"Could be," he admitted. "But she might have canned them tonight."

And so we scolded and skinned, stewed and processed, working on the overly ripe ones first.
Somehow, though, they were all overly ripe — no doubt the reason for the terrific bargain. We were up to the elbows in tomato and peach skins and as sticky with syrup as the kitchen floor. (Later we discovered that in our weariness, we had put peach slices into the canned tomatoes.)

And so to bed.

NEXT MORNING we went to church, convinced that we'd be within the law in coming home and spending the day finishing the canning.

Came the gospel of the day:
the story of Mary and Martha, and of Our Lord's admonition to Martha, "Martha, thou art anxious and troubled about many things; and yet only one thing is needful. Mary hath chosen the best part."

Then the Postcommunion: "We implore Thy mercy, O Lord our God, that we who celebrate the Assumption of the Mother of God, may by her intercession be delivered from all the evils that threaten us."

That settled the tomatoes and peaches — no canning!

So we took it easy, kept holy that Holy Day, getting together a simple picnic supper with plenty of fresh tomatoes and peaches — for those of the family who of necessity had to work.

When it grew dark, we came home from the picnic and the Head of the House read aloud from the St. Andrew's missal, the explanation of the "Domato" or short sleep of Our Lady, and of the celebration of her feast day.
And then we said the rosary.

No, the tomatoes and peaches didn't all keep — there was no miracle of the roses — but it made a day we'll never forget. And a custom we have followed since placed that for this day we are a little more "Mary" and a little less "Martha."

Mercyhurst Alumnae Plan Students Tea Reception

The Rochester Chapter of Mercyhurst College Alumnae Association will conduct a tea for prospective students Sunday afternoon, September 14th, at the Catholic Woman's Club.

Miss Ann Kane, president of the Rochester Chapter of Mercyhurst College Alumnae Association, is general chairman for the tea. She will be assisted by Mrs. Peggy Shea, Mrs. Virginia O'Connor, Mrs. Frances Blum, and Miss Peggy Sullivan.

ONE OF THE unique features of the tea will be a display of Mercyhurst College yearbooks dating from the first edition up to the most recent publication. The purpose in such a display is to give the students a pictorial history of the growth and development of the college.

Decorations for the party will follow the traditional colors of the school — green and white.

Miss Peggy Sullivan will display pictures of the college's May Day Celebration and arrangements are being made to show slides depicting such campus events as Investiture, the Winter Carnival and the Sophomore.

First Lecturer Sydney, Australia — (NC) — Rev. Louis Robert Durell, O.P., the first lecturer in scholastic philosophy appointed to an Australian university, was named to the faculty of Brisbane University, in the State of Queens-land.

Sulpician Head Paris — (NC) — The Rev. Pierre Girard, S.S., has been elected new superior general of the Society of St. Sulpice.

AN INVOCATION.
"Lord of all pots and pans and things, Since I have not time to be a saint by doing lovely things;
And watching late with Thee, or dreaming in the twilight, or storming Heaven's gate Make me a saint by getting meals or washing up the plates.

"Although I must have Martha's hands, I have a Mary mind, And when I black the-boots or shoes, Thy sandals, Lord, I find.
I think of how You trod the earth each time I scrub the floor Accept this meditation, Lord, I haven't time for more.

"Warm all the kitchen with Thy Love and light it with Thy peace, Forgive me all my worrying and make all grumbling cease.
Thou who dost love to give men food, in room or by the sea, Accept this service that I do — I do it all for Thee.
— Cecily Hallack
