Golden Jubilee, School Dedication Set At SS. Peter and Paul's In Auburn

Auburn — Sunday, August 31, will mark two significant landmarks in the history of SS. Peter and Paul's parish in Auburn—the formal observance of its Golden Jubilee and the dedication of the newly-built addition to the parochial school.

His Excellency the Most Rev. Constantine Bohachevsky, Apostolic Exarch of the Ukrainian Catholic Diocese, who was recently elevated by His Holiness Pope Pius XII to an Assistant to the Papal Throne and Roman Count, will officiate at the dedication ceremonies starting at 5 o'clock.

Ukrainian priests from neighboring cities as well as priests from the Auburn Deanery have been invited. The Bishop will speak at the dedication as will also the Rev. William E. Davie, principal of Holy Family High School.

A JUBILEE banquet and dance will be held at St. Nicholas Hall, corner of Washington and Cottage Streets immediately after the dedication. The Rev. Nicholas Wolensky of St. Josaphat's Church, Rochester, will be toastmaster. Guest speakers will include the Rt. Rev. William E. Cowen, pastor of St. Mary's Church, the Rev. Wladimir Dowhowich of Elmira and the Hon. Robert A. Nelson, Mayor of Auburn.

A highlight of the entertainment will be the program of songs to be presented by Mrs. Joseph Tymochko of Ogdensburg. Mrs. Tymochko is well known here and abroad, for she was a famous opera singer in Kyew in the heart of the Ukraine. For her Auburn appearance she will be accompanied by Harrie Southwick of Syracuse.

A musical program will also be presented by the church choir under the direction of Eugene Cehelsky. The Rev. Basil Oastas is pastor of SS Peter and Paul's. The Rev. Paul Harchison is assistant.

CSMC Sessions List 3 From Here

Notre Dame, Ind. — John O'Hara and Ronald Kujawa of Aquinas Institute, Rochester, took part in the discussion following an address on the problems of the missionary Church in Africa by Bishop Edward Mason of Bahr el Ghazal, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, at the 15th national convention of the Catholic Students' Mission Crusade, closing at the University of Notre Dame Aug. 24.

THE STUDENTS spoke on the possibilities of financial help to the missions in Africa from Catholic American students.

The question of African-American student correspondence was also presented at this discussion, and preliminaries were laid for carrying out written contact between the students of both continents.

John D. Stapleton, a student at St. Bernard's Seminary, participated in a forum considering the educational problems of the Church in post-war Japan.

Following an address by Bishop Paul Furuya of Kyoto, Stapleton, together with other students proposed the adoption of a program calling for greater financial aid to the Japanese missions and a similar correspondence project for American and Japanese student groups.

Africa Mission Project To Center At Aquinas Here

By NCWC News Service

Five programs of mission action, beamed at five great areas of life, were launched at the 15th National Convention of the Catholic Students' Mission Crusade.

The convention, largest in CSMC history, was held at the University of Notre Dame. It brought together 3,000 students, educators, and mission leaders for four days of discussion on the religious crisis of our times and the opportunities of Catholic American youth to meet the problems posed.

UNDER THE leadership of Bishops Edward Mason, of the Anglo Egyptian Sudan, and Paul Furuya, of Kyoto, Japan, the convention put into operation programs for establishing correspondence between students in colleges and universities in Africa and, Japan and students in the United States.

Centers for the African correspondence project will be at Aquinas Institute, Rochester, N. Y., and Mount Mary College, Milwaukee. The Japanese correspondence will be centered at West Baden College, West Baden Springs, Ind., with Robert Dressman, S.J., recently returned from the Catholic University of Tokyo, as chairman.

A program designed to create solidarity in the missionary activities of Catholics in the United States and the Latin American countries, outlined by Bishop Raymond A. Lane, Superior General of Maryknoll, will provide for the sending of a one-man mission to confer with Catholic groups in the individual countries of South America.

For this mission, it was proposed that an executive of a Catholic university in the U. S. be appointed and that he report his findings to college groups in the States upon his return.

ANOTHER PROGRAM of action developed from a panel session direct by the Rev. Frederick A. McGuire, C.M., of the Mission Secretariat, Washington, D. C. The panel included Marie Berger, legal counsel for the Point Four program in the Eastern hemisphere, and Florence Reynolds, of the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization. This program calls for the wider participation of Catholic college graduates in social service for the people in underdeveloped areas.

The fifth program, proposed to a college panel and adopted for the national CSMC, calls for the holding of institutes for foreign students who are studying at universities in the United States.
