Student Nurses' Course Begins For 30 At Elmira

Thirty young women including nine Elmirans began their three year course in nursing at St. Joseph's Hospital School of Nursing on Tuesday, Sept. 2. The first few days include an orientation period, when the new students are introduced to the faculty and fellow students, and become acquainted with the course of study as well as with the hospital and nurses' residence.

THE NEW GROUP was entertained by their big sisters of the Junior Class at an informal party on Tuesday evening.

The course which these students are beginning will qualify them to take the State Board examinations leading to licensure as registered professional nurses.

At St. Joseph's Hospital during the first six months designated as the pre-clinical period, the students will pursue an intensive course of study in the basic sciences and nursing arts, as well as supervised practice in the hospital wards.

Completing this phase of the program, they will receive their caps and will begin the clinical period of theory and practice in Medical, Surgical, Obstetrical and Pediatric Nursing, in Operating Room technique and Diet Therapy.

In their senior year, the students will have a twelve-weeks affiliation in Psychiatric Nursing at Rochester State Hospital, Rochester, and an eight-weeks affiliation in Tuberculosis Nursing at Herman M. Biggs Memorial Hospital, Ithaca.

ST. JOSEPH'S Hospital School of Nursing has been fully approved by the New York State Board of Nurse Examiners since shortly after its opening in 1908. More recently, it has become affiliated with Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C., and is a member of the Conference of Catholic Schools of Nursing.

Within the past year the School of Nursing was granted temporary accreditation by the National Nursing Accrediting Service, an agency set up to approve both collegiate and basic nursing programs on a nationwide basis.

In the entering class are the following:

Elmira: Beverly Ann Bulas, Mary Catherine Drzewiecki, Carolyn Ann Garey, Theresa Ann Levandoski, Mary Virginia Milliken, Margaret Carol Monahan, Teresa Ann Ponzi, Dorthea Woldrik, Mary Chloe Woodhouse.

FIFTY YEARS WED are Mr. and Mrs. Gaetano Bonsignore of 102 Lowell St. (above) who will mark their anniversary at St. Bridget's Church, Saturday at 10 a.m.

Bonsignore Couple To Mark Golden Jubilee At Mass

Mr. and Mrs. Gaetano Bonsignore, of 102 Lowell St., will celebrate their 50th Wedding Anniversary on Sept. 6. The couple will renew their vows at the 10:00 a.m. Mass at St. Bridget's Church, of which they have been members since their arrival in the United States.

The Mass will be celebrated by the Rev. Gerald T. Brennan, pastor.

AS THEIR attendants, Mr. and Mrs. Bonsignore, have chosen their eldest children, Marcus M. of Rochester and Rose J. (Mrs. Salvatore J. Barone) of Syracuse.

Mr. Bonsignore was born in Agrigento, Italy, June 13, 1872 one of ten children and Mrs. Bonsignore was born in Agrigento, Italy, October 28, 1882, one of six children. They were married on Sept. 8, 1902 in that Country. In March of 1905 Mr. Bonsignore migrated to the United States and settled in Rochester. His wife followed him in July of the same year.

UP UNTIL THREE years ago, when Mr. Bonsignore retired, he was in the building business.

Mr. and Mrs. Bonsignore have been blessed with eleven children, nine of whom are still living. The children are: Marcus M.; Rose J. (Mrs. Salvatore J. Barone); Josephine; Salvatore J.; Arthur; Eugene; Virginia; Romilda; and Olga (Mrs. John V. Bonavilla).

The couple have seventeen grandchildren.

Later in the day a dinner and reception will be held at Doud Post, Buffalo Road, where Mr. and Mrs. Bonsignore will receive their friends and relatives.

Big Difference

Riberalta, Bolivia—Noticing that the children here usually call any North American a "gringo" Father Richard S. McConigal, Maryknoll missioner from St. Paul, asked one group whether they used that term in referring to him.

"Oh, no," they answered, "You're not a gringo. You're a Padre."

Spain's Social Action Bishop Visits Britain

London—(NC)—A Bishop who once shocked Spaniards back to religion by sermons in theaters is now paying his first visit to Britain.

THE PRELATE, 66-year-old Bishop Angel Herrera of Malaga, Spain, sacrificed a brilliant legal career in his early life to become a lay apostle. He organized a group of similar enthusiasts who hired theaters for their meetings and caused such a raising of eyebrows that an attempt was made to have the lay preachers suppressed.

But Dr. Herrera and three companions went to Rome, saw Pope Pius X and came back with his blessing and encouragement.

Dr. Herrera was ordained a priest at 54. He was editor of the great Spanish Catholic daily, El Debate, for 25 years, resigning to go to Fribourg, Switzerland, to study for tht priesthood.

This step saved his life. For in the same year the Civil War broke out and communists murdered many of El Debate's staff.

AS EDITOR, Dr. Herrera propagated the Catholic Faith, attacked vested interests and graft and helped found the Spanish Catholic Action movement.

On his consecration five years ago the Pope sent him to Malaga, a communist hot-bed, to set up a Catholic social center and to preach the practice of Catholic social principles to corrupt employers as well as to the workers.

27 Million Leaflets

New York — (NC) — Catholic doctrine leaflets under 80 different titles have been issued to the total of 27,000,000 copies. Vista Maria Press here has announced.

The publishers declare that an edition of ten leaflets, prepared with special care and dealing with a variety of topics from the Catholic viewpoint, was recently prepared and to date 750,000 copies have been distributed.
