Library To Serve College, Community

BY REV. JEREMY H. FLOOD, O. S. A., M. S. L. S.
St. John Fisher Librarian

The Rochester area is fortunate in the possession of many other libraries. Already, the city and diocese are blessed with many libraries wherein are to be found not only books and periodicals, but all materials which help us keep informed, educated and entertained.

St. John Fisher College Library is pleased to become a member, though a young one, of such a family. However, the purpose and unique purpose of this library should be established.

The college library exists primarily for the use of the student body. These two groups make up the "community." Material such as books, magazines, maps, etc., are purchased or accepted as gifts with this community in mind.

Certainly, Carole's was at least half right when she described college education as a "collection of books." We have a collection of books, but we do not have a library. We have a collection of books, but we do not have a library. We have a collection of books, but we do not have a library.

At this "transition" time, we feel that the right reasons for the love of books, so easily taken for granted as part of a librarian's equipment, without love of persons, could be a most profitable book. Books are important when they are of use to persons who know how and why to use them.

The present collection of books at St. John Fisher is not yet complete. Classification and shelving of these books is not yet complete. The librarians are busy at this time. We invite all those who are interested in this work to aid us in this work to aid us in this work.

For the benefit of our friends who are eager to help us, a "word" should be said about the library. The library will be open to all. We will be glad to accept any books or gifts. We will be glad to accept any books or gifts.

We ask for patience on the part of those libraries in the area until we are capable of helping in our common work. We thank all those who have been already more than generous. We shall ask their help again soon. We invite all those who are interested in this work to aid us in this work to aid us in this work.

John Fisher—The Scholar

Bishop Fisher's greatest human happiness was found in his library, and it was said that he had the finest private collection of books in England. He intended to leave his library to his beloved St. John Fisher. He intended to leave his library to his beloved St. John Fisher.

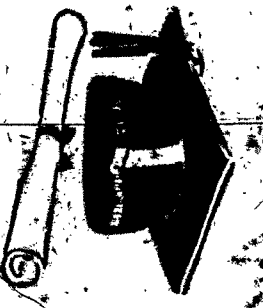

There is not in that nation a more learned man nor a holier bishop. Cardinal Pole stated that the King, before the violence of his passion had hurried him out of the reach of reason and reflection was concerned to give that man a good education. He intended to leave his library to his beloved St. John Fisher.

While he was in prison, he wrote his magnificent history of the reign of Henry VIII. He intended to leave his library to his beloved St. John Fisher.

Examined by the Royal Commissioners of the University of Cambridge, he was found to be a man of great learning and virtue.
