Six-Man Football Inaugurated At Seneca Falls School

Seneca Falls — Six-man football has replaced the regulation game at St. Patrick's School, this year, and the games are intramural.

The coaches, Gino Giovannini and Louis Vergamini explained the athletic policy change by saying there has been difficulty in obtaining outside games for an 11-man team and the 6-man team is much faster.

Also, they said there is less danger of injuries to the players and the game offers an opportunity for smaller boys to play.

Adoption of the six-man football by St. Patrick's will mean the physical development of more of the boys in the school, the coaches said.

A large attendance was reported for the opening game Sunday on the K. of C. field.
