minds of the youth.
This is the hopeful message brought here from Red Poland by Josef Werner, who was a member of the Council of Na-tional Unity during the nazi ocupation of that country.

The communists know very well that they have not succeed d in captivating the minds of he youth," Mr. Werner sald here. The young people still go to hurch en masse. They receive he Sacraments and take part in ocessions.

"Of course, mothing is said in the churches against the perle's government. But it is enough if the people have the Jospels read to them.

The communists are trying to nake it difficult for the young people to practice religion, but hey do not want to risk a frontal attack on religion. At this mo ment there is no strike nor our rel among the Polish people There is only a silent war will he Soviet system imposed on hem. And there are dreams of better future.
